Background

This EUCPN Work Programme succeeds that of 2020. The Work Programme 2021 is in accordance with Article 4 of the Council Decision 2009/902/JHA and Article 12 of the Rules of Procedures for the EUCPN.

The Work Programme of 2021 marks the start of the new Multiannual Strategy 2021-2025 (MAS)<sup>1</sup>. As foreseen in the Multiannual Strategy for the EUCPN, this document defines the activities of the Network to be completed in 2021. Strategic goal I focuses the Network as a supporter and developer of crime prevention within the EU using an evidence-based approach. Four operational goals were identified:

- Operational goal 1: The Network makes evidence-based information accessible
- Operational goal 2: The Network improves the effectiveness of crime prevention activities within the EU
- Operational goal 3: The Network, the Secretariat and the National Representatives are the point of reference for crime prevention in the EU
- Operational goal 4: The Network contributes to the EU policy and strategy of crime prevention

The MAS 2021-2025 also introduces a second strategic goal focusing on improving the Network's internal functioning. Within strategic goal II, four areas of improvements have been identified:

- Area of improvement 1: The evidence-based approach
- Area of improvement 2: Governance
- Area of improvement 3: Target group orientation
- Area of improvement 4: The expertise of the Network

Funding

The EUCPN currently relies on the following funding sources:

- EUCPN Secretariat is funded under the 'Internal Security Fund – Police' programme managed by the European Commission
  - Project from 1 April 2020 – 31 March 2022 with 2.105.263 Euro budget: 5% of the project budget was contributed by the MS through the proportionality principle.

- Crime prevention projects which are of interest to the network are funded through multiple sources:
  - National policies and expenditures
  - EU financial programmes managed by the Commission (ISF – Internal Security Fund - Police, Hercule III Programme, Justice programme, Horizon Europe etc.). More information about these programmes can be found on our website: <http://eucpn.org/document/eu-funding-programs>

Prioritised topics by the Presidencies

The Portuguese Presidency

- The Portuguese presidency will focus on preventing intimate partner homicide. Death and violence in intimate relationships are probably, a global problem, an attack on human rights. The problem has a multifactorial genesis, and governments should define strategies to prevent, protect, mitigate and punish before the outcome occurs.

Supranational organisations take a stand, such as the Council of Europe with the Convention on Preventing and Combating Violence Against Women and Domestic Violence (Istanbul, 2011), an important legally binding convention, already signed by the EU. The four pillar of this Convention are prevention, protection, prosecution and coordinated policies.

Statistics provided by EuroStat and United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime regarding intimate partner homicide raise concern and warrant a reflection. Furthermore, the containment measures associated with the COVID-19 pandemic, can contribute to greater obscurity as to the violence perpetrated at home.

Some studies seem to indicate that this kind of homicide can be relatively easy to predict, based on offender behavioural violence scales. Risk factors are identified in the literature. It is everyone's responsibility to prevent this definitive outcome, from which there is no return. Prevention is the key. Preventive measures increase society's and individual awareness, as well as education to tackle intimate partner violence, and consequently, intimate partner homicide.

The Slovenian Presidency

- The Slovenian presidency will focus on preventing bullying among minors online and offline with exchange of good practices with the aim to establish the overview of the national practices at EU the level. In particular, we would like to obtain and analyze a large number of evidence based projects to later develop a common EU practice in the field of preventive activities to ensure a significant decrease of bullying among minors. Bullying is as physical or verbal aggression that is repeated over a period, which is practiced between youngsters and can in short time become a misdemeanor or even criminal act. This can cause different trauma and can be a generator of forced criminal activity. The rise of physical and psychological violence among minors, within the school environment (offline) or on virtual platforms (online), has become a cause of social concern over the last years and is widely recognised as an issue of public health.

The Covid-19 pandemic has led to an unrepresentable use of digital technologies due to the social distancing norms and nationwide lockdowns. The impact on the behavior of minors in this regard requires also a indebt exchange of experience between different stakeholders.

There are many different approaches used in different countries to reduce this type of criminality and different programs to help harmed youngsters.

After quite some period these projects have been developed, evaluated and readjusted. Such projects can be seen as evidence based projects. Detailed analyze can lead to creation of common EU practice for different stage and types of bullying.

The Slovenian presidency will also focus its activities on combating and prevention of sexual exploitation of children, which is an evolving phenomenon that has been predominantly shaped by developments of technology. The main focus will be on engagement of countries from Western Balkan, recently recognized as new hub of children exploitation, and develop common preventive campaigns and approaches with EU MS and Europol.

Activities in the Network in 2021

As stated above, the MAS 2021-2025 has not one but two strategic goals. The first strategic goal contains four operational goals and provides the plans to ensure that the EUCPN’s work reflects the needs of the crime prevention field. Secondly, strategic goal II was added to ensure that the EUCPN’s activities are supported by an efficient internal structure that adopts a proactive approach to planning, promotes appropriate and efficient working practices, and ensures that core processes are optimised. Four areas of improvement have been identified to improve the internal functioning.

Throughout the MAS 2021-2025 all the operational goals and areas of improvements contain action areas. These action areas are broadly described but it is the objective of the consecutive Work Programmes to detail Network and Secretariat tasks in order to accomplish the action areas and goals.

Strategic goal I: The Network will support and develop crime prevention within the EU using an evidence-based approach

According to the Council Decision 2009/902/JHA, the objective of the Network is to: ‘contribute to developing the various aspects of crime prevention at the Union level, taking account of the European Union crime preventive strategy, and shall support crime prevention activities at the national and local level.’ In order to continue promoting and advancing crime prevention in the EU, the EUCPN commits itself to evidence-based decisions and actions. The Network will support and develop the EU-wide crime prevention field by making factual, objective and reliable information available and supporting its implementation in practice.

Strategic goal I of the EUCPN provides the framework within which the EUCPN Secretariat staff and National Representatives will situate their work, and within which our target groups can see the added value of the Network and the rationale for products and services delivered. It is important to note that, due to the integrated approach to crime prevention, the operational goals are interlinked and mutually complementary.

Operational goal 1: The Network makes evidence-based information accessible

The Network aims to support evidence-based decisions and actions at the local, national and EU level by providing reliable information concerning crime prevention methodologies and practices. The Network is convinced that the accessibility of sound information is a prerequisite for developing effective policies in crime prevention. Therefore, the Network will act as a platform for this evidence-based information.

  - Task: National Representatives will share relevant research from their research institutions with the Network.

Furthermore, an assessment will be made if it would be beneficiary to write and publish a policy paper with recommendations on how to prevent intimate partner homicide.
    - Task: The Secretariat will, linked to Slovenian Presidency, organise a workshop with experts specialised on the prevention of bullying amongst minors online and offline. The Secretariat will also write a toolbox on this topic. Furthermore, an assessment will be made if it would be beneficiary to

  - Secretariat task: The Secretariat continues to engage with relevant institutions and respond to requests for inputs.

Operational goal 2: The Network improves the effectiveness of crime prevention activities within the EU

The EUCPN has an important responsibility to act as a catalyst for improving the quality and delivery of crime prevention initiatives. Effective initiatives have to be based on evidence on the nature of the problem and what has been shown to work rather than on ideological, prejudice or value judgements. Moreover, the common understanding of crime prevention will improve by sharing national experiences. The Network not only sets out to exchange information, but also seeks to implement this by creating and supporting effective actions at the local, national and EU level of crime prevention.

Action areas:

Strategic goal II: The Network improves its internal functioning

The consecutive external evaluations have stated that the EUCPN made an impact on the EU crime prevention field, but also discovered some limiting factors in the functioning of the Network. Increasing the Member States' engagement - which is sometimes very sporadic at present - is increasingly one of the biggest opportunities for expanding the impact of the Network.

The second strategic goal focuses on the internal improvements necessary to enhance the Network's functioning. It presents 4 areas of improvement. The areas of improvement deal, first of all, with how the evidence-based approach will be developed and implemented in the Network's endeavours. Secondly, the governing structure of the Network will be discussed to improve the internal working environment. Furthermore, an improved orientation towards the target groups will be envisioned and lastly, the expertise of the Network will be demarcated.

Area of improvement 1: The evidence-based approach

The increased focus on evidence-based approaches within the work of the Network is put forward as one of the most important areas of improvement in order to accomplish the Network's strategic and operational goals. It is recognised that the focus on evidence-based knowledge and activities needs to be at the heart and centre of the Network's endeavours.

Action areas:

- Create a task force

- Task: The Working Group on Evidence-Based Approach (WG-EBA) will organise at least one meeting to decide on the creation of the task force.
- Task: The task force will be composed of academics and practitioners.
- Decide on transparent criteria for assessing the evidence base of crime prevention practices
  - Task: The task force will organise as many meetings as needed to discuss transparent criteria.
  - Task: The task force will draft a strategy to fulfil the Evidence-Based approach goals.
  - Task: The task force will report the progress on the transparent criteria towards the WG-EBA.

Area of improvement 2: Governance

Each of the three external evaluations that have been performed over the years discovered limiting factors in this structure and expressed the need to improve the governance of the Network. The EUCPN, therefore, commits itself to tackling these governance issues in order to create a strong and clear structure. Specifically, the role of the National Representatives, the division of tasks and the hosting structure of the Secretariat have come into focus.

Action areas:

- Clarify the different roles and tasks of the EUCPN members
  - Task: The Working Group on Governance will draft a document clarifying the different roles and tasks of the EUCPN members.
  - Task: The external evaluation performed by the Commission will be discussed in the Working Group on Governance and in the Board. An agreement will be reached regarding the implementation of the recommendations.
  - Task: The guidelines for the Presidencies will be updated.
- Promote the appointment of well-equipped National Representatives
  - Task: Good practices will be exchanged between the National Representatives related to their work for the EUCPN.
- Leave room for content discussions during Board Meetings
  - Task: The Executive Committee will prepare the administrative decisions for the Network.

- Task: Written procedures will be used more extensively.
- Task: The presidency will ask the members of the Board for suggestions relating to crime prevention policies, practices and research.
- Discuss the hosting structure of the Secretariat
  - Task: The Working Group Governance will discuss the hosting structure of the Secretariat before handing in the project proposal at the end of 2021.

Area of improvement 3: Target group orientation

The Network's target groups are focused on three different levels of governance: the local, the national and the European level.

Action areas:

- Continuous link to international stakeholders
  - Secretariat Task: A stakeholders meeting will be organised.
  - Task: The creation of 'Memorandum's of Understanding' will be aspired with key stakeholders.
- Improved focus on the local level
  - Secretariat task: The Secretariat will also invite local practitioners and experts when organising expert meetings.
  - Task: The National Representatives will promote the EUCPN and its output to the local level.

Area of improvement 4: The expertise of the Network

The evidence-based approach discussion should already lead to greater expertise within the Network. Statements from the Network need to be a kind of benchmark for what is good, what works and what is not good or does not work.

Action areas:

- Create an advisory board
  - Task: A contact list will be created containing experts in various fields.
  - Secretariat task: In the research phase of major publications, the Secretariat will consult the contact list.
- Establish a balance between EU and local priorities

- Task: The Executive Committee will discuss how the balance between the EU and local priorities will be created.
- Strengthen the link between local and EU priority topics
  - Secretariat task: The Secretariat will start researching the local dimension of trafficking in human beings for labour exploitation and criminal exploitation.

Project 6

Project title:

“Granddaughter, grandson teaches – grandmother, grandfather learns”

Main theme:

Children and teenagers teach their grandmothers, grandfathers and other elders not only from their family, but also from their surroundings, about financial frauds aimed at seniors.

Project purpose and outcome:

Multi-generation integration achieved by children and teenagers teaching elderly people in a groovy and uncustomary way about dangers of fraud (where criminal impersonate their grandchildren or a police officer). This would yield a result of raising the awareness of elders throughout the Lesser Poland Region.

Project submitter (Member State):

Poland

Project leader(s):

The Regional Police Headquarters in Krakow

Project partner(s):

Urząd Marszałkowski Województwa Małopolskiego (The Lesser Poland Region Marshal’s Office)
Kuratorium Oświaty w Krakowie (Local Education Authority in Krakow)
Radio Kraków (broadcast station)

Project description:

For the purpose of the project a video podcast was prepared. It features a student and a police officer encouraging other fellow students to inform their grandparents, and other elders from their surroundings, about threats they could stumble upon on a daily basis, that are targeted primarily at seniors. The abovementioned video has been uploaded and posted in the internet which enabled broad reception by the inhabitants of Lesser Poland region. The video podcast was received very well, an abundant amount of artworks was sent to police in response to the video. This inspired the Police to announce a video making contest for children and teenagers from high schools to present how they talk to the elders about the threats. The last step was to prepare special information leaflet in form of the coloring book for youngest children to hand over to the grandparents and other elders.

Objectives project:

The main purpose of the project is education of elderly people, about various dangers they can be exposed to, performed by children and teenagers. The task for young people is to teach this vulnerable social group how frauds can deceive them and explain how the natural traits of elders are exploited – warm heart, kindness, the need of having purpose in life, as well as sometimes loneliness, lack of attention from the family, pandemic. The devotion of children, teenagers and schools aims at raising awareness in the aspect of frauds and would decrease the number of elders who fall victim to that kind of criminal activity.

Project outcome:

The expected outcome is raising awareness in the aspect of frauds. Using modern means to reach people such as internet, video podcasts as well as organizing the contest, enabled broad reception of the content of the campaign. The more people are aware of frauds and their operating methods, the less elders would become victims of this specific kind of crime. It promotes the safety of elders and provides them, through children's teachings, with a solution how to react when approached by a fraud, as well as the instruction what to do when a crime of fraud has already been committed.

Start and end project:

January – December 2020

Timescales and key milestone dates:

January – education of the elders through children from kindergartens

June - education of the elders through primary school students

September - education of the elders through teenagers from high schools

Funding (total budget and type of funding (e.g. ISEC, EUCPN Fund,...)):

100 000 PLN (the budget was spent on preparing the video podcasts, conducting the contests for primary and high school students and on printing out the information leaflets in form of coloring books). The project was co-financed by Urząd Marszałkowski Województwa Małopolskiego (The Lesser Poland Region Marshal's Office) and the Regional Police Headquarters in Krakow.

Project description:

The project is a deepening of work using the Streetworking method, which employees of the Human Lex Institute foundation have been implementing since 2010 in the areas of the city of Ełk which are most at risk of exclusion. An innovative approach to preventing addiction and crime is also supported by examining the sense of security of the inhabitants of Ełk, Giżycko and Olecko.

Similar projects are being implemented at the same time in other cities of the province. In total, Warmian-Masurian Voivodeship covers over 120 people, mainly children and young people, plus their families and local communities.

The main goal is to reduce the number of socially unacceptable behaviours among children and adolescents at risk of demoralization and addiction through working with the method:
Streetworking - to reduce social problems and addiction problems in the regeneration area, and specialized work in Young Man Centre - specialized services in the field of prevention, addiction therapy, psychology, psychotherapy, educational and animation classes, and legal counselling

Both tools are deepened with innovative work methods implemented by the Human Lex Institute foundation as the first in Poland and in Europe. These are:

- Dog therapy conducted in an open environment - for which the foundation received the award in 2018 – Eduinspirator,
- Psychogimnastics - an innovative psychotherapeutic tool mainly used in closed facilities adapted by the foundation to work in an open environment,
- Environmental Psychologist - In 2017 - we began to introduce environmental psychology as part of reaching the most needy people who do not use psychological counselling. The project expands this element of work,
- Social revitalization - enabling local communities to change their own environment by designing and implementing change,
- Professional social activation - through the implementation of professional preventive events - reggae without marijuana.

Project participants are multi-problem families at risk of addiction, poverty, social exclusion, including disabled people, people with mental disorders, people after imprisonment, as well as families from the Roma community.

excluded places where we are working.

Start and end project:

Start of the activities – 2010

Start of this project – 2018

End of the project – 2020

The project entitled This is My Place because I love this place is still being implemented. The planned completion date of the project is June 31, 2021. The reason for the continuation of the project is the COVID 19 pandemic situation, which prevents us from actually meeting children and young people, and the only way is online meetings. The number of online meetings, however, cannot be the same as the actual meetings, which is caused by the pupils' lower motivation to participate in remote activities. Our project also involves backyard work as the main form of meetings, as well as social and revitalization activities in the actual living space of the cared persons. However, the pandemic situation prompts us to evaluate and change the way we think and develop work tools.

Upbringing and educating a person in all stages of development is nothing but education. Education is closely related to pedagogical science, which is responsible for the correct and integrated process of educating society at every stage of life, primarily of children and youth, according to the ideals and educational goals prevailing in a given community. This project is aimed at primary and secondary school students from urban areas and rural. It will be possible to hold hearings in several age groups at the same time so as to show that different age groups face different problems. The simulation of a court hearing is to sensitize children and adolescents to the problems of everyday life and thus shape correct social reflexes. The simulation of a court hearing is an educational method addressed to every age or professional group. This method allows for an interesting and active way of working on the subject of the simulation. By choosing the subject of the simulation, we can bring its participants closer to many branches of human law, civil, administrative, criminal, misdemeanors, etc. Simulation of the process is a great idea to combine learning with an interesting and real experience (and even fun). The dissertation simulation is an active form of education because the participants are jointly responsible for the success of the undertaking, thus engaging their knowledge, creativity, skills and experience. These types of classes are dynamic, which makes the participants very willing to engage in them. Thanks to participation in such educational activities, participants gain knowledge about the work of courts in a democratic country, and it gives the opportunity to experience a "real" court trial. It gives the opportunity to feel the burden of responsibility that rests on the participants of the proceedings, i.e. judges, parties' attorneys, defense lawyers, prosecutors

Objectives project:

Developing independence and self-confidence, being assertive and resisting social pressures "try it, it's not addictive once".

Developing self-help methods to combat your weaknesses

Formulating and setting one's own goals in an attempt to overcome pathological behavior.

Developing correct social attitudes in order to properly use your free time.

Building a strategy and tactics for action in a specific matter.

Project outcome:

1. Participants will gain knowledge about the course of court hearings through action and active participation.
2. Developing the ability to choose the right path in life
3. Selecting the judged problem which will result in solving the real problem
4. Getting to know the legal regulations in force at a given age.
5. Individual approach to the problem and the ability to seek help.
6. 6. Acquiring public speaking, listening and communication skills.

Project description:

The "Eco Patrol" project is an innovative on its scale approach to security through a combination of typical prevention in the prevention of crime and threats, education of safe attitudes with environmental issues care for the environment and animal protection and pro-health prophylaxis. Care for residents and improving the quality of life of the city authorities in Chorzów resulted in a multi-faceted approach to safety, from education in safe attitudes in contact with animals, education in the field of animal protection, waste segregation to ecological hybrid police cars purchased by the project to patrol streets by police officers from Chorzów and the purchase of an opacimeter, a special device for measuring pollutants emitted by cars, which will allow policemen to eliminate vehicles poisoning the environment from roads. Chorzów focuses on eco, using the potential of its location, in the center of the Silesian agglomeration, with its green lungs - multi-hectare areas of the Silesian Park, where eco-policemen perform service on horseback and in bicycle patrols.

Objectives project:

The objective of the project is to shape pro-ecological attitudes, care for nature and animals, acquire the ability to safely behave in contact with animals and to shape a positive image of the policeman and his service. An innovative element of the project is a multi-faceted approach to the issue of safety and human functioning in the present world. The project is based on two pillars: education and action. Education combines traditional preventive elements, for example learning safe attitudes in contact with an aggressive animal, caring for and caring for animals, animal protection, and educating the need for waste segregation and protection of the atmosphere. Program participants will get acquainted with the specificity of the service of a Horse Constable officer and a guide of a service dog. The project's essence is the use of the educational room at the Horse Riding Station in Chorzów, which naturally strengthens the contact between residents and nature, promotes education of pro-ecological attitudes, providing them with unique, long-lasting impressions. The preventive content transmitted is strengthened by contact with animals - police dogs and horses, and all this takes place in the fairy-tale scenery of the eco-station.

Project outcome:

The effects of the program are primarily to sensitize the participants and acquire the ability to respect and care for the environment in the aspect of broadly understood security. Educational effects include awareness of animal threats and implementation of safety rules in contact with animals, acquisition of the ability to recognize emotions human and animal, shaping behavior skills in contact with an aggressive dog, sensitizing to the fate of animals, learning the principles of caring for and caring for animals. The youngest participants in the Eco-Patrol project will get to know Segreguś, the Chorzów guide to the waste world, the protagonist of the educational book, from which children learn how to properly segregate rubbishes, why waste containers have colors and and what waste should be thrown into a specific container. During the implementation of the program, particular emphasis is put on the use of activating methods: demonstrations and exercises, and contact with live animals - police dogs and horses. Such educational and preventive activities allow children to look at animals from a different perspective. Involvement in the program of younger children and seniors allows for intergenerational integration, bringing great educational values.

Project title:

Securing places of worship and of moral assistance

Main theme:

Securing public and semi-public buildings

Project purpose and outcome:

To formulate recommendations aimed mainly at preventing local communities from theft, burglary and terrorist acts.

Project submitter (Member State):

Belgium

Project leader(s):

Eric Valerio, Architect, Federal Public Service Home Affairs

Project partner(s):

Federal Public Service Justice

Project description:

The FPS Home Affairs, in collaboration with the FPS Justice, carries out audits that focus mainly on organisational measures to make places of worship more secure against the risk of theft, burglary and terrorist attacks.

The organisational measures are aimed at advising on procedures to be followed, developing the resilience of the target audience and increasing the vigilance of the targeted managers (in this case, of the places of worship).

Our approach aims to determine, together with the representatives of the various official cults, "emblematic" buildings that represent an "interesting" profile to feed our advice and enable us to formulate recommendations for the most comprehensive organisational measures possible, taking into account the majority of possible "configurations".

Objectives project:

To raise the awareness of the people responsible for places of worship and of moral assistance to take measures to secure their buildings against the risk of theft, burglary and terrorist attacks.

Project outcome (max. 150 words):

The audits carried out in places of worship and of moral assistance must lead to the drafting of "security sheets for places of worship by organisational measures" that may be adapted according to the specificities of the different cults.

These "sheets" should enable representatives of official religions to take internal measures to improve the security of places of worship. An evaluation of the implementation of the security measures is planned by our department in 2021.

We therefore aim to continue to support the different cults in securing their activities in the long run. In this way, we hope to be able to make ad hoc training courses available from 2021 onwards.

Project title:

Social Prevention of Drug-related Crime: follow-up and implementation project – SOCPREV2

Main theme:

Drug-related crime

Evaluation

Project purpose and outcome:

SOCPREV2 is a follow-up and implementation project of a set of registration guidelines, supporting practitioners with the evaluation of their project aimed at the prevention of drug-related crime and nuisance. By the end of this project, the guidelines will have been tested and adapted to better support practitioners in their efforts.

Project submitter (Member State):

Belgium

Project leader(s):

Ghent University

Project partner(s):

BELSPO, FPS Belgian Science Policy

FPS Home Affairs, Directorate-General for Safety and Prevention

Project description:

The SOCPREV2 study is set up as a continuation of earlier research into the social prevention of drug-related crime and/or nuisance. The original SOCPREV study aimed to contribute to effective and evidence-informed social crime prevention of drug-related crime and/or nuisance. In addition to producing an overview of national and international promising and best practices, as well as analyzing existing Belgian projects, a set of guidelines were also developed to monitor and evaluate projects. This registration manual enables cities and municipalities to register relevant process, output and impact indicators, facilitating a later evaluation of their projects.

Objectives project:

Cities and municipalities - and in particular smaller cities and municipalities - require targeted, concrete support in registering local and inter-municipal projects in the context of drug-related crime and/or nuisance. This requires a practical and supportive follow-up research. SOCPREV2 aims to cater those needs by supporting a practical implementation of this manual. Several prevention workers are supported and trained in using this tool, which, in turn, is also immediately subjected to a field test.

By setting up a learning network, these prevention workers assume the role of registration ambassadors, whereby they also share their newly acquired knowledge with colleagues in their respective city or municipality. All of this is done in close collaboration with employees of the FPS Home Affairs, Directorate-General for Safety and Prevention.

Project outcome:

By the end of this project, the guidelines will have been tested and adapted to better support practitioners in their evaluation efforts.

Project outcome:

The evaluations of the campaign show that the campaign has achieved a good communicative effect, especially due to the high memory, appreciation and message transfer. The Harm Alarm figure, which is central to the campaign, is also well received. In addition, the campaign has been successful in drawing attention to the topic of burglary prevention. Interest in the topic has increased during the campaign period, and that it has been discussed more often.

It is important to almost all citizens to take preventive measures against domestic burglary. Thanks to the campaign, knowledge about the types of measures that can be taken is increasing: more measures are mentioned on average, and specifically locking the door and all windows more often. The pre-formulated knowledge objectives have thus been achieved. It was striking that the insurers also responded to the campaign.

With regard to behavior, we also see shifts in the type of measures that can be taken, but not yet in the specific situation in which this would be done. After the campaign, more people say they "lock the door" and "close all windows" to prevent burglary.

Start and end project:

The campaign was repeated every year in the period 2014-2018 with "flights" in both summer and winter. The campaign is being conducted under the heading "don't make it too easy for them". One of the sub-campaigns is the campaign "Prevention of domestic burglary". The aim of the prevention campaign was that citizens adopt an attitude in which they feel responsible for themselves and their property and also take (concrete) measures to avoid becoming a victim of crime. Due to Corona the campaign did not succeed in 2020 but will be restarted in 2021.

Project 25

Project title:

Stop Handling stolen goods

Main theme:

Domestic burglary prevention measures

Project purpose and outcome:

The project purpose is to stop the handling of stolen goods.

Project submitter (Member State):

Netherlands

Project leader(s):

- Police: technical development, functional management, implementation of DOR, declaration, verification of compliance by buyers, responding to reports after hits between DOR and Stop Heling and to reports from citizens, seizing stolen goods, criminal investigation)
- Center for Crime Prevention and Security: technical management DOL
- Municipalities: local regulations, connection to DOL, supervision of the reporting obligation, checking compliance with the registration obligation, providing information locally
- Buyers: trade associations of jewelers, metal trade, vehicles, bicycles, art and antiques
- Public Prosecution Service: prosecution of healers and offenders registration obligation.

Project partner(s):

Project description:

The approach of preventing the handling of stolen goods is firstly based on frustrating the market for stolen goods and secondly on increasing the chance of getting caught. Three digital instruments are used for this: the Stop Heling database, the Digital Opkopers Register and the Digitaal Opkopers Loket.

Via the database of Stop Heling with the reports of stolen goods since 1 January 2010, citizens and companies can check whether a used product offered is registered as stolen. This database can be consulted via both the website and the app and offers the possibility to report to the police when a stolen property is discovered. The Stop Heling app also offers the possibility to register valuable possessions with serial numbers and photos, so that this information is immediately available for reporting after theft.

The Digitaal Opkopers Register (DOR) is the legally required purchase register for buyers and traders in used and irregular goods. The DOR is linked to the Stop Heling database. As soon as a stolen property is bought up and matches a report in the database, an automated report is sent to the police.

Thirdly, the Digitaal Opkopers Loket (DOL) has been developed for the statutory duty to report buyers and traders in used and irregular goods. Through this counter, enforcers of the registration obligation have an up-to-date picture of buyers and traders.

Objectives project:

The digital instruments used make it more difficult to sell stolen goods and will reduce the amount of fencing as an important facilitator for property crimes. In addition, the Ministry of Justice and Security is working to increase awareness among the population of the consequences of fencing, so that citizens check their desired second-hand purchase for theft and register their valuable properties.

Project outcome:

Considerable efforts have been made in the period studied to put up barriers to prevent the handling of stolen goods. These efforts, as mentioned earlier, are mainly aimed at linking a number of digital registers. In addition, there are all kinds of measures that facilitate the infrastructure for this approach. Research shows that the roll-out of the digital buyer register can be very valuable in this context. In 2020, the implementation of the digital buyers register is still in full swing. For example, there are more than 300 municipalities with purchasers who use DOR and a total of more than 6000 branches with a DOR register. The number of queries in the database rose to more than 6,500 per day in 2020 and the database contains more than 1,500,000 stolen goods in 2020.

These results represent the output of the prevention policy against handling of stolen goods, but can only provide an indication of the outcome. Unfortunately, the scale of fencing offenses is a blank spot, which makes it impossible to make specific statements about the effectiveness of this policy. However, there is a solid basis for this policy. By erecting barriers it is made more difficult for malicious buyers and criminals to do business and thus get stolen where to heal. In addition, a decrease in property crimes can be observed. In view of the efforts of the Ministry of Justice and Security, which cannot be seen in isolation from the efforts of other partners such as municipalities and the National Police, and the underlying substantiation, it is plausible to assume that the chosen policy is contributing to this.

Project 26

Project title:

“Shelter for years is a home, mom and dad – a child-friendly patrol”

Main theme:

Prevention of violence in intimate relationships. The subject of the project is the implementation of interdisciplinary activities of the Municipal Social Welfare Center in Sosnowiec in cooperation with the Municipal Police Headquarters in Sosnowiec, which in the event of an emergency are to provide professional help to the child, and at the same time to launch an aid system aimed at providing help to the family in solving its difficult life situation

Project purpose and outcome:

The main goal of the project "Shelter for years is a child-friendly mother-father-patrol" it is to ensure the safety and help for children and people affected by violence by establishing and implementing a system of two-person "child-friendly patrols", composed of Municipal Social Welfare Center employees and police officers working in the afternoon hours – In the evening (16.00-22.00).

Project submitter (Member State):

Poland

Project leader(s):

Municipal Social Welfare Center in Sosnowiec

Project partner(s):

Municipal Police Headquarters in Sosnowiec.

Institutions operating in the field of counteracting domestic violence, which have contact with families and children, participate indirectly in the project: probation officers, school educators, and the health service.

Project description:

This project is a system of child protection against harm being created. It is understood as a combination of activities of institutions, organizations and natural persons operating in the city, operating on the basis of applicable laws and operating standards, in the field of protecting children against various forms of abuse and neglect. The project provides for two-pronged activities: monitoring and intervention in the cases of society's inaction in the face of violence also harms the child. City residents witnessing child abuse will also be able to anonymously notify a child-friendly patrol. All you need to do is to provide family details, home address and worrying facts. By submitting the notification (by phone, in writing, orally, by e-mail), a procedure to protect the child is launched. Patrols appear where the child's well-being is at stake, e.g.: - a child left unattended at home or outside (left, lost), - a child as a witness/participant in a situation of violence, including domestic violence, - a child as a participant in a traffic accident, as a result of which he remained unattended, - the child as a participant in a situation that threatens him in another way (e.g. libation alcoholism, parents' quarrel, etc.). The patrol is in a police car of the Municipal Police Headquarters and has the necessary equipment. The equipment of the patrol includes: telephone, car seat, drug tests, crayons, coloring books, lollipops or toys, i.e. items helpful in establishing contact with the child. During the patrol, a social worker and a police officer work closely together.

Objectives project:

Project entitled "Shelter for years is a home, mum and dad" - child-friendly patrol, created system to protect the child from harm. It is understood as a combination of the activities of institutions, organizations and natural persons operating in the city, operating on the basis of applicable laws and operating standards, in the field of protection children against various forms of abuse and neglect. The project provides for two-pronged activities: monitoring and intervention. MONITORING: Monitoring activities were carried out in endangered environments. Families indicated / reported for the project were by social workers of the Municipal Center Social Assistance, officers of the Municipal Police Headquarters, probation officers, school educators. There were also anonymous reports from the inhabitants of Sosnowiec. Reported families were recorded on an ongoing basis and visited on a patrol, if possible. Monitoring of families was aimed at, among others conducting talks of a preventive and educational nature with parents of children, providing them with advice and guidance. Leaflets on violence and addiction were distributed to families. INTERVENTION: The patrol was called in a situation that threatened the health or life of the child, e.g. an alcoholic libation or a quarrel between the parents. Two people participated in the child-friendly patrol: a social worker of the Municipal Social Welfare Center and a Police officer. Patrol if necessary was supported by other officers on duty on a given day. The Municipal Social Welfare Center together with the Police, the Department of Security and Crisis Management and the Municipal Police in Sosnowiec, have developed the so-called procedure of emergency child protection, which, in the opinion of the project implementers, works flawlessly.

Project outcome:

The result of the project is to raise awareness of the local community in terms of proper childcare, its traumatic experiences, and at the same time to sensitize both parents, the local community and institutions to the phenomenon of violence and anti-social behavior. The "child-friendly patrol" will make children aware that although their parents do not feel safe at times, there are adults to whom they can turn for help. The patrol will promote the correct patterns of family life – life without violence and addictions, spending free time together. Each child and victim of violence will receive professional help. And the institutions established to counteract domestic violence will gain the trust of the inhabitants of Sosnowiec and will increase their effectiveness in helping. Indicators for monitoring the effects of the project: - number of families reported for monitoring, - number of patrols completed, - the number of weekly phone calls, -number of letters addressed to the District Court in Sosnowiec, IV Division Family and Minors, - the number of Blue Card procedures initiated, - number of interventions of the "Child-friendly Patrol", -number of children who received support.

Start and end project:

2016 – still

Timescales and key milestone dates:

The activities are carried out on an ongoing basis. The Child Friendly Patrol patrols three times a week from 4:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m. - when the probability of pathological and antisocial phenomena is highest – always on Fridays and Saturdays and one day during a week that is a movable day. In addition, social workers have weekly phone calls to ensure that children are adequately protected during the intervention.

Prevention of juvenile delinquency and victimization of minors

Project purpose and outcome:

Increasing safety in Cristești Secondary School

Project submitter (Member State):

Romania

Project leader(s):

Mures County Police Inspectorate

Project partner(s):

Cristești Village Hall

Project description:

At national level, there is a diversification of forms of juvenile delinquency in schools. Developed policies to prevent these phenomena must consider, in addition to education against crime, the awareness of all stakeholders in education - family, school, government, media, about consequences, effects, costs involved in this type of events.

Therefore, although in Cristesti village there are no special problems; ten years ago Mures County Police in partnership with Cristesti Village Hall launched the Project "THE LITTLE COPS ", whose aim is to increase the safety of students and beyond.

Presenting was made at a festive meeting with students, parents, authorities and media. The head of Mures County Police Inspectorate emphasized the importance of involvement in such activities. The same message was sent by the others guests: School Inspectorate representative, Mayor of Cristesti, school principal and faculty. Also, preventive officer and project coordinators in the school presented the objectives and activities undertaken or planned.

Thus, 16 students (Romanian, Hungarian and Roma) had the opportunity to become "policemen" of General Cristesti School with police-like uniform and well defined tasks, promoting amicable resolution of potential conflicts between students.

Also, the children and their peers contribute substantially to the drafting of a quarterly information sheet "THE LITTLE COPS NEWSPAPER", which includes various information: activities of students, joint events, articles of teachers, citizen advice, useful information etc.

Objectives project:

- Anti-infractional and anti-victimization training of pupils, as well as of the factors involved in the education process;
- Awareness of students citizens in general, about the causes and consequences of this phenomena;
- Involving students in prevention activities;
- Increasing the confidence of young people in the police;

Project outcome:

During the 10 years of the project, the activities had about 13.000 beneficiaries, pupils, teachers, but also other categories of beneficiaries.

Regarding the impact on the pupils involved they affirmed that they felt very valued throughout the project being highlighted in front of the community.

Project 34

Project title:

"SAFE SENIOR"

Main theme:

Safety of older people, preventing crime against seniors.

Project purpose and outcome:

The main goal of the project is limiting the number of events with older people as victims. Thanks to the work of many policemen, as well as institutions that support police activities, the intended goals were achieved. Annually, the effects of the preventive work can be assessed on the basis of the target senior group's opinion, the willingness to participate in meetings with a policeman and primarily on the basis of the statistics of criminal events involving injured persons over 65 years old. In 2018, 62 cases of cheating to the detriment of older people were recorded in the above age range in the West Pomeranian province. However, in 2019 there was a decrease number of so-called "grandson" frauds (from 62 to 58 such cases), which means that preventive actions aimed at making the society aware of the threats bring the desired result. Both, the policemen and employees of many institutions try to reach the widest possible group of seniors and awkward people, both with preventive materials and good advice. Due to many factors independent of the officers, like the age of the project's addressees, their intellectual disabilities and diseases of the old age, it is not always possible to implement "rules of conduction" in everyday life. Hence, proper prophylactic materials, that remind you at all times in which situations you should be especially vigilant are very valuable . An excellent evaluation of the project will be the survey of the participants in the "Safe Senior" debate that will be organized on October 20 this year in cooperation with the Branch of Social Insurance Institution in Szczecin, during which respondents from the entire province will be able to comment on a number of questions regarding the need to organize such meetings. Certainly, the project contributed to strengthening local coalitions for safety and prevention of the incidents involving seniors, due to the mutual transfer of information obtained in the elderly people's environment. For certain, the project contributed to strengthening local coalitions for safety and prevention of incidents involving seniors, due to the mutual transfer of information obtained in the environment of the elderly people.

Project description:

The West Pomeranian "Safe Senior" project has been operating since 2009 and its main purpose is to reduce the number of criminal incidents (theft, fraud etc.) involving older people (seniors). The project is implemented by all police units in the West Pomeranian province. This year, police officers - in cooperation with other institutions - held 468 meetings with 9153 seniors. Topics that are discussed during such lectures, workshops or seminars on a regular basis are related to:

- so-called "grandson" frauds and similar,
- security in the implementation of the digitalization,
- principles of secure electronic banking,
- how to react properly in the event of a drunk driver in a vehicle,
- how to react in the event of assault, burglary, robbery, domestic violence etc.
- how to avoid threats related to manipulation (dishonest people),
- how to avoid carbon monoxide poisoning,
- how to react in case of fire,
- rules applicable to signing contracts and other documents,
- what to do in case of loss of documents

Project objectives:

The implementation of the "Safe Senior" project in the West Pomeranian garrison has for many years been aimed at reducing the level of criminal incidents committed against elderly people. Conversations with senior citizens as well as statistical data show that this goal is achieved every year, and the actions of the Police and cooperating institutions in this area bring the expected results. The project, in accordance with its assumptions, is implemented by the district police officers and juvenile matters and social prevention assistants, establishing direct contact with the recipients of the initiative, media and other institutions. Some non-police entities showed willingness to cooperate as well and decided to inform seniors about the program, continue their own education and place information materials on bulletin boards.

During family picnics, district police officers informed elderly people about the threats and provided educational materials. In addition to educational meetings, policemen also participate in Christmas Eve meetings, attend Grandmother's and Grandfather's Days in kindergartens as well as some other jubilees e.g. related to the celebration of Senior's Day.

Project outcome:

Good communication between police officers and seniors and a clear message are actions that bring the expected results. Distribution of materials among the addressees of the program is supported by organized meetings. Lectures and workshops are interactive. As part of the project, as every year, preventive materials were printed in the form of leaflets, posters, comics and calendars for 2020. In connection with new threats appearing all the time the West Pomeranian Police implemented new directions of actions sensitizing older people to fraud, road safety, domestic violence and loneliness. Seniors are also informed about the principles of security when using ATMs. Seven educational films were shot together with two spots that were broadcast in media. The main task was to raise the knowledge level among seniors in avoiding situations in which someone could become a victim and to behave correctly in the event of an emergency, which should be reflected in limiting this type of events in reality. In addition, the project was to sensitize seniors' families and the immediate environment to their loneliness and willingness to help in crisis situations.

The start and the end of the project:

The mentioned initiative in the West Pomerania province has been operating cyclically since 2009. It is implemented periodically every year from February to October.

Timescales and milestones' dates:

1. January - June

- development of evaluation surveys of social debates in the field of older people's safety analysis,
- conducting debates with seniors,
- development of preventive and educational materials,
- market analysis in the field of printing leaflets, posters, brochures and reflective materials on the safety of seniors,

2. June - October

- printing educational and informational materials in the field of elderly people's safety,
- distribution of preventive materials through the Police City Headquarters and Police District Headquarters of the West Pomeranian Voivodship,
- educational meetings of policemen and seniors.

3. November – December:

- analysis and summary of evaluation surveys from repeated social debates,
- assessment of the satisfaction level of the program recipients after participation in the meetings (and also in the social debate),
- summary of the project's promotional activities by analysing the websites and social network sites available to the Police, collecting press articles and other media messages,

- substantive and financial settlement of the project.

Funding (total budget and the type of funding (e.g. ISEC, EUCPN Fund,...)):

The total cost of implementing the last, 2019, edition is PLN 10,000. The project is co-financed in the field of implementation of commissioned tasks and Police own tasks undertaken in the area of elderly people's safety. This is the amount transferred to the Police for the organization of the undertaking by the Marshal's Office of the West Pomeranian Voivodship. The costs are related to preventive materials graphic design and printing in the form of leaflets, brochures, posters, self-adhesive reflective bands and calendars for 2020.

Project title:

Security Olympics

Main theme:

Individual and community security.

Project purpose and outcome:

The purpose of the project: developing children's skills in knowing and using safety solutions/systems.

Project outcome: for seven years over 3000 children visualize a safer life.

Project submitter (Member State):

The Crime Analysis and Crime Prevention Service, the General Police Department of the City of Bucharest.

Project leader:

The Crime Analysis and Crime Prevention Service, the General Police Department of the City of Bucharest

Project partner(s):

Partners:

Bucharest School Inspectorate

Over the years there were other partners involved in the project: National Library of Romania, Noriel, Sun Plaza, the Foreign Affairs Ministry Publishing House.

Security Olympics started as a contest seven years ago. An average of 500 children takes part in the competition every year. An experience of seven years enables us to believe it is as a normal and useful approach as the other school contests (Romanian language, Mathematics, Foreign languages), provided nowadays society when safety is one of the valuables of the modern human being.

Project description:

Security Olympics is the only practical contest which has as a main purpose and promotes team work: child-parent-teacher. This competition is aimed at children from all educational cycles. In 2018, the project is also addressed to preschoolers.

Children made over 100 safety layouts every year (houses, cars, playgrounds, schools, malls, games). They also created over 100 detective stories written by children published in four tomes (which they signed and gave to the contestants), dozens of posters and photos on crime prevention.

The safety features and the fact that children have and use a proactive behaviour were most important for the contest judges.

Kids acquired the ability of identifying personal and community safety features as well as to use them when needed. For example, when designing model houses they have learned about the importance of interphone and public lighting. They have studied the role of a zebra crossing, they have learned about the role of zebra and light in traffic. While designing their own model cars they thought of antitheft mechanical and electric systems.

In 2019 the competition will consist of: designing the layout of a safe mall, creating detective stories (tome no. 5), launching a public information campaign to prevent alcohol and drug use while driving. We hope EUPCN will support us to turn it into an international contest, too.

Objectives project:

Project Goals

1. To identify vulnerable situations in different life contexts
2. To promote the partnership between students-parents-teachers as an element for increasing civic responsibility
3. to develop practical skills in designing individual and communitarian safety solutions

Project outcome:

The project results have been analyzed both in qualitative and quantitative terms.

Talking about quality, solidarity and cohesion have been promoted as the teams of students are guided by teachers and parents. The number of teams that signed up for the contest increased every year so the project is popular. Moreover, parents and educators supported the teams in producing and displaying their projects. They combined synergistically knowledge from several different areas of school curriculum (Geography, Mathematics, literature, Art).

The project had the effect of increasing self-esteem and respect for the others' work, as children are the main supporters of distinguished projects. Children from the social protection system have enlisted their projects as well. They also won prizes and their success was an important motivational element to overcome a possible traumatic situation.

From the quantity point of view in 2019 the project is implemented for the eighth year. Over 3000 children and 2000 teachers and parents took part in the competition until now.

Their pieces of work can be a source of inspiration for real estate developers, car producers, games designers, tourism agencies, local administration, the police, etc, as the projects have a realistic execution.

Start and end project:

The project started in 2011. It is resumed every year.

Timescales and milestones dates:

October 1st - start of the contest with the support of the Bucharest School Inspectorate

December 1st - projects enrollment deadline

February 15th - submission of works to the organizers (via e-mail: projects, layouts photos)

February 28th - the appointment of the semifinalists by a jury of safety specialists

March 15th - public voting on Facebook "creative thinking" (it counts 50%)

March 20th - the designation of the finalists (the arithmetic mean between the grades given by the specialists and the public)

March 25th – Romanian Police Day - the public presentation of the works and the prize winners, the local stage

June 15th-16th 2019 – national stage for the first time

June 17th – award national winners

Funding (total budget and type of funding (e.g. ISEC, EUCPN Fund,...)):

Project 38

Project title:
Cyber jungle

Project proposer:
Poland

Project leader(s):
The Municipal Police in Szczecin

Project supporter(s):
The Schools Headmasters

Project scope:

The "Cyber jungle" project is aimed at the younger Internet users, their carers as well as people taking part in their education and attitudes shaping. Its mission is to improve the overall security of the Internet users, especially those who are not properly prepared for it.

This set includes the surrounding reality: young people and children do not know the hazard and their parents - who in the accompanying circumstances had not followed the development of this medium

- are remaining in ignorance with respect to its capabilities and threats. It is a form of family dysfunction in terms of proper childcare.

Therefore, the security is based on many factor program components and is constructed of three main elements:

1. Increasing awareness of the program participants about the perils related with the Internet used by children and young people as well as improving the safety of its users. It is also one of the objectives of the program.
2. Activating parental control over minors benefiting from the resources and engineering data tools.
3. Introduction of the correlation element in the usual utilization of Internet resources by individual users in a secure direction to each family or group of users.

According to this plan different security levels are achieved by developing the ability to accurately search for specific information preventing contact with the unwanted content. This problem affects mostly youngest children, who should be able to precisely follow specific knowledge resources without the risk of contact with violence, pornography, etc.

- Older users should have the ability to assess legal aspects of their activity on the network often balancing on the edge of admissibility.
- Another area of impact is developing capacity to assess the risk when establishing virtual relationships and ability to conduct correspondence in a secure manner, i.e. without disclosure of sensitive data as well as creative and save use of defence mechanisms against process of grooming.
- The whole project includes the need to develop mechanisms for sharing resources and information technology tools with the minors and their guardians in such a way that the use, for example, of the social network did not facilitate the acquisition of knowledge about the family.
- The program is implemented through meetings and workshops with minors, and then with their carers and educators. This gives them the opportunity to acquire knowledge, which parents and guardians do not have, and use it during meetings that are conducted in a form of small talks with the use of multimedia technologies.

"Cyber jungle" handbook for parents was also published as well as "Cyber jungle" and "Cyber security" educational materials for parents and people interested in the issues. These publications contain information that introduce people who had no contact with the network before into the secrets of virtual reality. This message shows concepts for the average reader with a view to identify opportunities to supervise minors' online activities.

Project outcomes:

Multimedia tools including instruments of social communication within the Internet might form the germ of crime. They allow young people to gain knowledge about the world, help to create their own system of values, shape attitudes and skills.

Due to their role in the modern world, especially in the education, they should be seen not only in terms of inexpressible possibilities and creating enormous opportunities, but also in terms of the hazards and risks and the potential use by criminal environment. Therefore, the objective of the project is to improve awareness of criminal responsibility for the behaviour exhibited on the Internet having comprehensive hallmarks of offences. The premises of the plan are also directed at widening the knowledge of adult users such as parents and educators about all the popular environments used by young people in a risky manner, which in turn grants them to work out effective supervision over them and shape their proper attitudes.

An important aspect of the plan is also teaching the ability to protect sensible information that can be used as a tool for criminal actions of certain groups.

The program calls for evolution of the ability to measure the importance of data transferred on the web (for criminal circles) about actual life. The adult participants have the opportunity (in the form of workshops) to understand how to have correspondence oriented for sensitive data acquisition, in a veiled way.

- Familiarise themselves with websites and portals used by young people and together with the leader conduct risk analysis for establishing the risky relationships, especially by younger users.
- They familiarize themselves with popular games and their narrative. They participate in a multimedia show that in an attractive way enriches their knowledge about the Internet.

This leads ultimately to establishing the authority of the parent/guardian oriented to the virtual reality, who becomes a partner for younger generation in the conversation.

So built family relationships allow common online activity, particularly in the field of social networks in such a direction that the information put up on them by individual household members do not complement each other and does not turn into a reliable image of the family in the network and the actual world which contributes to eliminate the dangers presented by the Internet.

Timescales and key milestone dates:

The level of execution of the project is measured by assessing the number of interested schools in terms of divisions and statistical information concerning the act committed by juvenile offenses including acts committed via the Internet in Szczecin.

- In 2014 we conducted 17 meetings,
- In 2015 we conducted 45 meetings
- In 2016 we will conduct in total 69 meetings

Crime Statistics:

- In 2014 we had a significant fall compared to 2013 in numbers of offenses committed, from over 400 to 303 as well as the number of juvenile offenders from 208 to 126.

- In 2015 we reported slightly raise to 310 offenses committed by 142 perpetrators.
- In the first half of 2016 this tendency remains when it comes to numbers of offenses as we reported 248 of them in the first half of the year, at the end of November 2016 our statistics close as 384 offenses, on the other side the number of perpetrators is falling, in the first half of the year we had 84 juvenile offenders 128 at the end of November 2016.

A downward movement is clearly visible. It should be mentioned that in the above period, we do not report common offenses committed via the Internet made by juvenile perpetrators, i.e.:

- Criminal offenses of article 286 § 1 of the Penalty Code (fraud),
- Art. 267 of the Penalty Code (theft of data),
- Art. 268 of the Penalty Code (violation of the right to learn the information through the demolition, removal, damage or change in the records).

The project is still in the implementation phase, which followed the needs reported by institutions interested in taking part in the plan. The potency of the meetings can provide information from the schools indicating the change in students' attitudes and common and consistent functioning of parents in improving parental control and a reduction of offenses given by minors despite the growth in Internet usage. Execution of the project is proceeding in conformity with its aims.

Funding issues:

With regard to project preparation and the training of tutors it is not possible to calculate the exact costs due to the fact that the coordinators realize the project while performing their duties.

The project is planned to be financed with own funds of The Municipal Police in Szczecin.

Notes:

"Cyber jungle" preventive program is an initiative aimed at children and young people and their carers. The program is designed to raise the level of safety. It is carried out in a form of meetings and workshops with children, youth and their parents, carers and teachers. A simple, accessible language and talks about difficult issues are one of the advantages of the program. The people conducting the meetings communicate content tailored to the age and educational level of the audience. The project consists of several components. The first task is to improve awareness of the risks associated with the Internet use by children and young people as well as improving the safety of its users. The second element is to activate parental control over children who use the Internet and develop mechanisms for joint use of it by children and their caregivers. The third one is to improve relations inside the family and build the authority of the parent who is familiar with the specifics of virtual environments of the youth. This way he/she becomes a partner for the teenager in a conversation about the problems.

Project title:

Drawing on the right side of the brain

Main theme:

Preparing inmates for re-entry.

Project purpose and outcome:

In order to prepare inmates for reintegration to the society the National Crime Prevention Council of Hungary started a project to help them develop their social skills and self-confidence.

Project submitter (Member State):

Hungary

Project leader(s):

National Crime Prevention Council

Project partner(s):

Hungarian Prison Service

Project description:

The program aims not only to develop drawing skills but to deepen self-consciousness and to ensure a more realistic self-esteem. The success-experience that can be easily reached by the inmates strengthens their self-confidence and helps to dissolve their inhibitions and tensions. Working in groups subserves better social skills such as empathy, tolerance, the ability to liaise comfortably with people and to pay attention to others. Due to this activity prisoners' focus becomes more concentrated and longer while their visual perception, fantasy and aesthetic sense evolve. The Council provides courses not only directly for the inmates but for the reintegration-officers too who in our intentions will be able to organize and facilitate these courses on their own. Until now we trained more than 50 reintegration officers and reached more than a thousand inmates through the program.

Objectives of the project:

To prepare inmates for reentry by developing their self-esteem and social skills.

To teach prison officers to be able to organize and facilitate these courses on their own.

Project outcome:

Those inmates who participated in this project will learn that they are able to achieve their goals. They will have the ability to work as a member of a team and will have a more realistic self-esteem.

Start and end project:

The project started in 2014 and the implementation is ongoing.

Funding (total budget and type of funding (e.g. ISEC, EUCPN Fund,...)):

The program is financed by the National Crime Prevention Council.

Re-Action program

Main theme:

Interactive outdoor program for secondary school students in order to introduce basic knowledge about crime prevention; about the work of police, fire department, prison service etc.

Project purpose and outcome:

The highlighted purposes of the Program:

1. Deepening the knowledge of crime prevention and building active knowledge
2. Moderating aggression in schools
3. Preventing crimes and drug abuse among young people
4. Promoting positive attitude

Project submitter (Member State):

Hungary

Project leader(s):

National Crime Prevention Council

Project partner(s):

Police, Hungarian Prison Service, National Directorate General for Disaster Management, Secondary schools

Project description:

The Re-Action Program started in 2014 as the successor of the Interactive Police Program. The National Crime Prevention Council mainly chooses those schools to participate where there are trained police officers or teachers introducing basic knowledge about crime prevention to students. Finding a proper place is an important part of the selection procedure, because it is an outdoor program. In every single occasion the program reaches about 200-250 students, their parents and their teachers as well. Volunteer students, certain police forces and vigilantes help us carrying out the program.

The program starts with interactive workshops in minor groups. In these groups different types of topics are discussed, for example first aid, decisions in different situations, on-line risks, drug prevention, control of surroundings, recognizing and handling conflicts, education through experience.

After these workshops, everybody comes to the common place, where the moderator tells short stories to introduce the following shows: self-defence, police measure tactics, and measures of police dogs. The public is involved in introducing stories related to crime prevention.

After the shows different kinds of situations are played. The actors are from the public and the helpers. These stories show everyday life situations in which there are decision points, where it can be shown, how a decision may affect the future. These situations are related to drugs, heist, harassment, affray and on-line harassment. Via these situations we can teach the students about prevention as an experience. The situations are able to teach to understand the perspectives both of the victim and the perpetrator. Such performances can make the students face not only crimes but the circumstances as well, for example an injury, the risk of using drugs, injury of a vehicle, or a first step towards prison.

At the end of the program there is a simulation of a road accident. The wrecked car is set on fire and is quenched by firefighters.

The secret success element of the Program is the way we show how everyday life situations can turn into crimes. We would like to show how the situation affects the victim or the perpetrator, and how we can change our decision to make a win-win situation.

Objectives project:

1. Deepening the knowledge of crime prevention and building active knowledge
2. Moderating aggression in schools
3. Preventing crimes and drug abuse among young people
4. Promoting positive attitude

Project outcome:

Since 2015 there have been 19 events with the participation of 25 schools (14 secondary schools and 11 elementary schools). We have reached 4346 students and 329 teachers so far.

Start and end project:

The Re-Action Program started in 2014 and the implementation is ongoing.

Timescales and key milestone dates:

Because its complexity (lots of participants) the program is being organized only 4 times a year.

Funding (total budget and type of funding (e.g. ISEC, EUCPN Fund,...)):

The National Crime Prevention Council finances 100 % of the budget.
Each occasion costs 600 000 HUF.

Project partner(s):

Belgian Local and Federal Police, provinces, towns and boroughs, private associates.

Project description:

The '1 day without' initiative aims at sensitizing citizens to the preventive part they can play in the fight against burglaries. Putting the clocks back one hour is retained as a strong moment in the campaign. In 2016, the latter focuses on senior citizens, a more vulnerable target group in terms of burglary prevention.

Every year, over 300 prevention initiatives are implemented by local prevention partnerships, police and prevention services, tenant and resident associations, private partnerships and private individuals.

There is a wide variety of prevention actions: afternoon information-tea for senior citizens, articles in the municipal information papers, neighbourhood watch actions in cooperation with the neighbourhood police constable, poster campaigns and leaflet distribution actions, etc.

An operational consultation group made up of provincial, police or municipal associates meets on a regular basis and puts many means of communication at these associates' disposal.

Objectives project:

We can distinguish 4 main objectives within the project:

- to encourage citizens to think about what they can do to increase their security AND awaken their alertness;
- to step up the social cohesion in the streets, neighbourhoods and districts by spurring on the inhabitants to work together on prevention;
- to encourage local (provincial, zonal, municipal, ...) initiatives;
- to Publicize the '1 day without' action

Project outcome:

In order to achieve the aforementioned goals, we have made joint venture deals with different partners: the provincial authorities, boroughs, the Belgian Local and Federal Police, but also with private associates.

To publicize as much as possible the national action day, we have also developed a communication campaign comprising various communication tools. We have our own official '1 day without' website where everybody can post their actions, but we are also active on Facebook, Twitter and offer a spectrum of posters, folders and postal cards. Furthermore, we also have a promo one-reeler and we offer a genuine '1 day without' app.

For the 2016 edition, we have decided to lay emphasis on one specific target group: senior citizens. Elderly people are characterized by increased vulnerability. We have conceived a specific folder with 7 prevention tips against theft by deception and struck new partnership deals with senior citizen organizations and associations.

Start and end project:

Start: 11/12/2014

The project is still ongoing as we organize a yearly national action day. Up to now, there has already been 3 editions. The latest edition took place on Friday 28 October 2016.

Timescales and key milestone dates:

Since this year, '1 day without' is to take place when clocks are being put back one hour for the winter. This is indeed traditionally one of the most burglary-sensitive periods of the year. The following editions' further development shall also continue in the same way.

Funding (total budget and type of funding (e.g. ISEC, EUCPN Fund,...)):

The project-related costs vary every year according to the tools developed (app, videos, gadgets,...) and are divided up as follows for the year 2015 (price excl. VAT):

- Hosting the '1daywithout' websites (in French & Dutch): €500
- Creation of 150 plastic covers and roll-ups: €9525
- Creation of 30,000 magnets geared towards senior citizens : €2850
- Making of 10 visuals + translation : €5400
- Cooperation with a social innovation agency: €5320

At FPS Home Affairs level, 2.5 FTEs are working on the project.

Project description:

The project's target group are socially disadvantaged children and youth and their parents. The citizens living in the so called socially excluded areas are threatened by crime both as victims and as perpetrators. Among the root causes for children and youth to be threaten by crime are lack of positive role models in socially excluded environment, lack of opportunities to spend their free time meaningfully, to develop their personalities in a healthy way, to establish social relations and most importantly lack of education which will limit their opportunities to succeed for the rest of their lives. To live prepared as a visually impaired

Main theme:

Helping blind and partially-sighted persons to develop their self-defense abilities

Project purpose and outcome:

In order to help blind and partially-sighted persons the National Crime Prevention Council of Hungary prepared a special crime prevention program to teach these vulnerable people to develop their self-defense abilities.

Project submitter (Member State):

Hungary

Project leader(s):

National Crime Prevention Council

Project partner(s):

National Institute for Blind Persons

Nursery Schools, Primary Schools, Special Vocational Schools, Unitary Methodology Institute and Youth and Children's Home for Blind Persons

Project description:

Increasingly more and more people suffer a stroke, from illnesses or accidents which can cause worsening vision or even blindness. These people would like to continue with their lives but their changed situation brings new challenges for them. It is necessary to relearn how to use traffic, the everyday routine, and a new area appears: self-defense. They have to prepare themselves for the fact that they are more exposed to dangers.

For this reason, the National Crime Prevention Council of Hungary prepared a special crime prevention program for blind and partially-sighted persons. The Council would like to teach them to develop their self-defense abilities through trainings. These trainings put great emphasis on avoiding theft, robbery, tricky thieves and teach proper and safe credit card usage. In connection with internet safety, the Council would like to direct their attention to the risks of false information, shopping and social networks. The addiction and safety of entertainment are important topics for young people especially.

The trainings provide opportunity to develop the participants' self-knowledge and the identification of their own resources. Based on these practices, they may get ready for dangerous situations with the use of the practiced alternative acts. The programs run in special training schools for blind and partially-sighted persons and also in the State Institute for Blinds.

The participants have evaluated the program as a positive experience and indicated their intention to participate in future programs as well. The long-term aim of the National Crime Prevention Council is to spread this method by preparing the specialists dealing with blind and partially-sighted persons to hold similar trainings to these at-risk groups.

Objectives of the project:

Prepare blind and partially-sighted persons – as potential victims – to recognize possible emergency situations and develop their self-defense abilities.

Project outcome:

After the training blind and partially-sighted persons will be able to recognize emergency situations, to choose the optimal prevention method and to use it as a skill.

Start and end project:

The project started in spring 2016 and the implementation is ongoing.

Timescales and key milestone dates:

The project contains two trainings a month.

In August 2016 some specialists together with blind and partially-sighted persons took part in a training. During that they learned new aspects and methods, so they can share them in their institute and adopt them in their work.

Funding (total budget and type of funding (e.g. ISEC, EUCPN Fund,...)):

Total budget: 1.260.000 HUF

The National Crime Prevention Council finances 100 % of the budget.

Contact details project:

The project is connected with the rehabilitation and integration project of the National Institute for Blind Persons.

Safety in the Public Sphere

Main theme:

Crime prevention related to violence against women in the public space

Project purpose and outcome:

As the subjective feeling of security in Austria is decreasing despite an objective reduction in crime, the purpose of this particular project is both to reassure women and to provide them with information on ways in which they can avoid becoming the victim of a crime on their way home/while going out for a walk, etc. The outcome that we can comment on so far is a notable positive reception and a substantial increase in the awareness of possible sources of danger and how to act in the case of an emergency.

Project submitter (Member State):

Austria

Project leader(s):

Evelyn Liebhart

Project partner(s):

The project is conducted with selected third parties in order to assure quality and the successful organization of information events.

Project description:

The project focuses on information events and produces materials that convey important advice and tips on proper ways to react towards an aggressor and how to prepare oneself in advance to the occurrence of an attack (or how to avoid the attack in the first place). The information communicated this way also summarizes important legal aspects pertaining to self-defense and how to search for a self-defense course that will prove to be useful in the case of an attack. The proper way to contact the police and when it is necessary to do so are also discussed.

Objectives project:

The primary objective of the project is to empower women in the public sphere and to give them the necessary confidence in order to feel safe in a public setting. In order to do so, potential sources of danger (also relating to drugs put in drinks in order to knock out victims) are mentioned and discussed collectively. In other words, strengthening the awareness of possible victims and to prepare them for the case of an emergency are key goals to be achieved by the project.

Project outcome:

In order to discuss the immediate outcome of the project, we are able to state that the audiences at our information events are continuously growing and that partnerships and related activities are intensifying at a constant rate. We also received very positive feedback from the attendants of our information events and can say with confidence that the number of people were are able to reach is growing continuously.

Start and end project:

The project started in the 2nd quarter of 2016; it is currently being implemented in a standardized process across Austria.

Timescales and key milestone dates:

The concept-phase of the project took place in the 3rd and 4th quarter of 2016

The implementation phase of the project started in May 2017

The standardization and expansion of the project to encompass all of Austria began November 2017

Project 48

Project title:

National Security Threat Map (NSTM)

Main theme:

Introduction of an interactive tool for informing the Police about local security threats in order to cooperate with the society in eliminating socially unwanted condition. (Topics: Community Policing, Crime Mapping)

Webpage: <http://www.policja.pl/pol/mapa-zagrozen-bezpiecze/33880,dok.html>

Project purpose and outcome:

The main purpose of the NSTM is to act as an information exchange platform between the Police and the society regarding threats, made to i.a. activate the local societies and to verify and optimise the Police organisational structures.

The evaluation of this tool, performed on the basis of remarks from the side of the society enabled to perceive real threats to the local societies that can be eliminated by the Police or other institutions, and the effects can be quickly noticed by the society.

Project submitter (Member State):

Poland

Project leader(s):

Bureau of Prevention of the National Police HQ in Poland

Project partner(s):

Main National Geodesist office in Poland

Project description:

The project of NSTM, as the first in the Polish Police history, was preceded by vast consultations within the society. On the basis of propositions reported during discussions about the shape of the NSTM a set of 25 categories of most commonly reported threats has been developed. This solution, activates the society in a matter unknown before, in order to make the society also responsible for the condition of security in the living area. For this purpose, the interactive part of the NSTM had been created, and every person using it, with no charge, may anonymously indicate a place where the threat occurs which in his/her assumption does negatively affect the sense of security. The process of indicating a threat on to the NSTM should not last longer than a dozen or so seconds. The user, after choosing one from 25 threats available in the catalog, should indicate the localisation where it is present and then, with the ZGŁOŚ (report) button presents the threat on the map. The reporting person may also add details of the threat occurrence (i.e. a photo). The Police does ensure, that every such indication will be taken care of with proper seriousness and the effect of this action will be visible on the map. The Police via Internet, supported by modern technology, does reach to a vast population of receivers.

Information gathered by NSTM are the basis of defining courses of action of different units within the uniformed (prevention) Police service, including community officers, and also indicate eventual needs of changes within the organisational structure of the Police.

Objectives project:

According to the assumptions the NSTM should:

- act as an information exchange platform between the Police and the society regarding threats,
- reflect threats already indicated and registered by law enforcement and other services,
- present threats noticed by the society – activation of local societies,
- serve for verification and optimisation of present organisational structures of the Police,
- enable „verification” of survey results on sense of security of citizens published by public poll research centres compared to own data and analysis from the Police.

Project outcome:

Examples of NSTM outcome:

- improvement of road traffic safety by:
  - correction of traffic organisation and modification of road infrastructure,
  - modification and improvement of road signs on Polish roads,
  - temporary elimination from road traffic of unsafe drivers, who flagrantly infringe road safety by excess speeding,
- taking up actions aimed at eliminating the common occurrence of drinking alcohol in prohibited areas;
- taking up protective measures towards homeless persons, beggars or minors endangered by demoralisation (i.e. using intoxicants, acts of vandalism etc.)

The establishment of the 'National Security Threat Map' has enabled citizens to report on a variety of threats which assist the Police in identifying issues that might not otherwise be reported. The guaranteed response is an assurance to the public that their concerns will be addressed.

Start and end project:

Introduced on October 5 2016, in use since then.

Funding (total budget and type of funding (e.g. ISEC, EUCPN Fund,...)):

The project has been carried out by the Police in cooperation with the Main National Geodesist office in Poland. For this reason, no financial costs were borne by the Police. The only costs covered by the National Police HQ – 15 thousand PLN were paid for the advancement of the NSTM (i.e. for posters, leaflets, gadgets for children – balloons, reflective pendants etc.)

- Mapping of crises interventions services in Poland,
- Enabling communication and media environment in order to avoid stigma and discrimination and reinforce media-related prevention mechanisms.

Project 50

Project title:

Save Gordon!

Main theme:

Experiential education project for middle school students about internet safety.

Project purpose and outcome:

To raise awareness among youth about the dangers of internet and to educate them how to protect themselves online.

Project submitter (Member State):

Hungary

Project leader(s):

Crime Prevention Subdivision of Zala County Police Headquarters
National Crime Prevention Council

Project partner(s):

Police, Elementary schools, Secondary schools

Project description:

“Save Gordon!” is a crime prevention program based on experiential education developed by the Crime Prevention Subdivision of Zala County Police Headquarters in the framework of a project financed by the National Crime Prevention Council called “Network for safety”. The idea of the program is based on the experience that in a world full of information and stimulus it is hard to achieve objectives with preventive trainings in schools. Previously it was easy to attract the attention of the students with topics like drugs and crimes, but now all the information is available on the internet. With transforming the prevention topics into a playful form, we try to regain the attention of the children.

The concept of the program is based on the popular “escape games” because in our point of view information can better be provided through this communication channel to the age group of 10-14. In the program there are hidden information about certain topics of crime prevention and after the program students are more open to listen to police officers.

When planning the program we concentrated on cooperative working methods. In team work children can achieve goals with helping each other and not with rivalry. Team work requires taking responsibility for a common goal – with all its advantages and difficulties. Students work off a given topic together, they share the information and learning experiences with each other. They succeed and fail together and learn how to handle it.

Objectives project:

- We can distinguish 3 main objectives within the project:
- to deepen the students’ knowledge and understanding of cyber crimes
- to encourage students to think about what they can do to increase their online security

- to build better communities in the classroom by playing a game together

Project outcome:

We have trained 75 experts so far and we constantly get invitations from schools to hold pilot classes at their institution.

Start and end project:

The project started in spring 2017 and the implementation is ongoing.

Project description:

The National Crime Prevention Council of Hungary (NBT) tries to transfer new knowledge to people not only in a traditional way but also in an interactive, playful form. Uniquely in Hungary, the new project of the NBT was created by a modern mobile technology. This new application is called „Házőrző” (Homewatch). The program consists of a 3D game, a test which assesses the safety level of our property and also of a notebook about the protection of our home containing the most important information on the topic. The goal of the 3D game is to keep the burglar from breaking into a house by answering different protection related questions (e.g. What kind of fence does the house have? Is there an alarm in the house?) Depending on the responses the burglar gets closer and closer to the house. A questionnaire about the safety of our property is also part of the application. After answering the questions the application give suggestions on how to protect our home better.

The “Házőrző” (Homewatch) application entertains, teaches, and helps the user at once. It can be used long-term and it can be developed as well. The application can only be downloaded in Hungarian from Google Play and from the App Store.

Objectives project:

We aimed to show the people the safety level of their homes and to encourage them to think about what they can do to increase this status.

Project description:

The purpose of this project is the digitisation of approximately 81.520 movable antiquities stored in the Cyprus Museum storerooms and the digitisation of approximately 14.480 movable antiquities exhibited at all governmental Museums. This will support the work of the Department towards the protection of cultural heritage. Digitisation has been proven to be a major means of protection and preservation of cultural heritage against loss due to natural or man born disasters, even natural decay of records and a viable way to ensure this is secured for future generations. It can also largely contribute to the future reconstruction of deliberately destroyed sites and looted antiquities and to their rehabilitation, as well as prevent loss of this cultural property due to illicit trafficking and assist in claims for its repatriation. The project involves the upgrading of existing software and hardware of the CADiP database, according to the newest frameworks and libraries of databases.

Objectives project:

The main objective is the digitisation of movable antiquities stored and exhibited in the museums of the Department of Antiquities. This will support the work of the Department of Antiquities towards the protection of cultural heritage and will contribute to a more intergraded policy, planning and management. Documentation through digitisation has been proven to be a major means of protection and preservation of cultural heritage against loss due to natural or man born disasters, even natural decay of records. It can also largely contribute to the future reconstruction of deliberately destroyed sites and looted antiquities and to their rehabilitation, as well as prevent loss of this cultural property due to illicit trafficking and assist in claims for its repatriation. Digitisation will also support research on Cypriot archaeology, as it will simplify the process of locating information and the objects themselves both for academics and community.

Project 65

Project title:

Selfie on the train does not take likes, it takes lives!

Main theme:

The need to show off in social media drive many teens to their death, the reason being the lack of public awareness of the “electric arc”.

Project purpose and outcome:

We had to explain the phenomenon, while making sure teens would listen. The experiment was filmed and shared via SM channels, generating lots of comments and shares among teens.

Project submitter (Member State), project leader(s) and project partner(s):

This project was carried out exclusively on Romania's territory. The initiator of the campaign was the Romanian Police and the implication was carried out by Mercury360 Communication.

Links to the project's website or online reports/publications (preferably in English):

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=arvB7yU-XEM>

Short summary of the project:

We explained how they can die from an “electric arc” when making a selfie on the train. We created a real object from well-known SM emoticons, and we put them on a train, showing what happens to teens that get up there for a selfie: they get electrocuted and catch fire. The blown-up the internet-fame symbols from the experiment was displayed in school across the country as artefacts depicting the Train Selfie consequences. Additionally, a train coach took the campaign message all over the country, by being attached to different trains, on routes explored mostly by teens.

Project description:

To stop the phenomenon, we have made an experiment. We took the symbols of celebrity on the net and climbed them on the train, in order to show what happens when someone is looking for fame in the wrong place.

The experiment explains in the simplest way the phenomenon of electric arc, which often causes death or life trauma. When someone gets on the train, they automatically enter the electric field formed less than 1,5 meters from the high voltage line and, without touching the power line, is electrocuted with 27.000 volts. Then his body gets on fire or is thrown off the train, hitting hard on the railway line. Most die on the spot and others need recovery for the rest of their lives.

The campaign "Selfie on the train does not take likes, it takes lives!" is carried out at national level, from 17 July 2020 to 31 January 2022, and during this campaign a passenger train wagon customized with the campaign's insignia (visual and message) has been attached to the trains running in the country, to send the preventive message.

On the route of the custom wagon "journey", the transport prevention and police officers organized public events at train stations, so that adolescents and young people understand better the risks they pose when trying to take a picture on the train or when not following the rules of conduct within railway stations, marshalling and adjacent areas.

Project objectives:

1. Decrease in the number of fatalities in accidents from interactions with trains, wagons, rails – stop the upward trend.
2. Raising public awareness that this behaviour is dangerous and is causing more and more victims. The initiation of a topic of discussion on this subject in public space.

Project outcome:

A video has been made

In SM channels has been generating lots of comments and shares among teens and more than 20 publications have been written about our campaign.

In terms of accidents, they decreased considerably in Romania.

Start and end project, timescales and key milestone dates:

It started on the 17 July 2020 and it's still ongoing

Funding (total budget and type of funding (e.g. ISEC, EUCPN Fund,...)):

Aprox 2,000 euro - a sponsorship.

Evaluation:

Partial, on 31.01.2021, Internal – the campaign reached more than 100.000 people on social media and more than 90.000 through direct actions.
