

EUCPN

EUROPEAN CRIME PREVENTION NETWORK

NEWSLETTER JANUARY 2024

How to prevent maritime theft

This paper offers an introduction to the phenomenon of maritime theft, by exploring the general context of the issue and examining the effectiveness and implementation possibilities of potential prevention initiatives.

How to prevent work-related crime

The first part (available in EN, FR, DE, ES, SE) of the toolbox focuses on preventing labor exploitation, requiring a coordinated effort that should engage all relevant authorities and actors across three strategies. The second part concentrates on situational prevention and will be published soon.

Read more

Read more

Webinar: how to get started with the administrative approach

 8 FEB  14:00  Online

Join us

Webinar: situational prevention of labour exploitation

 27 FEB  11:00  Online

Join us

About us

Events

Contact

This newsletter was funded by the European Union's Internal Security Fund – Police.

The personal data you provide when you subscribe to our newsletter is processed for the sole purpose of sending you the information you have requested. The data is kept for as long as you subscribe to our newsletters. This data is not passed on to third parties. If you no longer wish to receive our newsletters, you can click on the following link: Click here to unsubscribe.

Contact: eucpn@jbz.eu

Responsible editor: EUCPN secretariat, Handelsstraat/Rue du Commerce 96, 1040 Brussels, Belgium.

Privacy policy • Personal data • About the Federal Public Service Internal Affairs of Belgium
Edit your data