2018 Annual Report

Second National Strategy on Domestic, Sexual and Gender-based Violence 2016-2021
Foreward

Domestic, sexual and gender-based violence occurs in all social classes, all ethnic groups and cultures and among people of every educational background. It can have devastating physical, emotional and financial consequences for victims as well as society as a whole. These are sadly often hidden crimes, frequently perpetrated by persons in a position of supposed trust or complicated by close relationships. The way forward is for State, community and voluntary services to work together to reduce its prevalence and effects, by educating the public, supporting the victims and dealing appropriately with the perpetrators.

My Department developed a National Strategy on Domestic, Sexual and Gender-based Violence for the 6-year period 2016-2021. The actions in the Strategy were agreed with the relevant state organisations and non-governmental organisations. The strategy is a whole of Government response to domestic and sexual violence. The Department of Justice and Equality, the Department of Children and Youth Affairs, the Department of Education & Skills, the Department of Health, the Courts Service, the HSE, the CSO, the Prisons and Probation Services, An Garda Síochána and Tusla are all implementing bodies of actions contained in the strategy. Contributions are also made by non-governmental bodies such as the National Women’s Council of Ireland, the Bar of Ireland, the Law Society of Ireland, Akidwa and medical professionals in our Sexual Assault Treatment Units.

The bulk of the Strategy’s actions are aimed at changing societal attitudes through awareness raising to help prevent domestic and sexual violence, improving services to victims and holding perpetrators to account. The community and voluntary sector, working in collaboration with the State agencies, are our vital partners role in monitoring implementation and ensuring the delivery of a successful strategy.

Inclusive monitoring structures have been put in place to progress the implementation of the strategy. A Monitoring Committee comprising relevant State and non-State representatives oversees and monitors progress. A Committee of senior officials from Government Departments and agencies has also been established to ensure a strong focus on delivery of the strategy's actions.
I am proud that we introduced the Domestic Violence Act 2018 which was signed into law on 8 May 2018. A key action in this strategy, this important legislation was commenced on 1 January 2019 and represents a significant improvement in legal protections available to victims of domestic violence. It enhances the measures available within the civil law system to support and protect victims including measures required to ratify the Istanbul Convention such as introducing a new criminal offence of forced marriage and a new criminal offence of coercive control.

The strategy’s key task is to ensure the delivery of a well co-ordinated “whole of government” response to domestic, sexual and gender-based violence against all members of the community. The implementation of this strategy helps to improve the current system of prevention and response, and ensure safer lives at home and in our communities through effective co-operation and commitment by all bodies involved in the actions set out within this strategy.

This Government continues to be committed to doing everything possible to prevent domestic, sexual and gender-based violence and where such violence tragically occurs, to doing everything possible to support victims. We want to end the menace of this violence and make Ireland a safe place for all. In this regard, the Programme for Partnership Government commits to the full implementation of the Second National Strategy on Domestic, Sexual and Gender-based Violence. The devastating effect on those who are abused cannot be overstated and we must work together to keep this critical issue firmly on the agenda.

The Strategy is a living document and has actions added on an ongoing basis, with 13 new actions having been added since its publication in 2016. Throughout 2018, 6 actions in the Strategy were fully completed; in particular, 2018 saw enactment of the Domestic Violence Act, and access to interim barring orders was extended; the Courts were given legislative power to refer domestic violence perpetrators to programmes; we created a specific offence of forced marriage; and our Sexual Assault Treatment Unit guidelines were updated.
In addition, two new actions were added to the Strategy; a review of Relationships and Sexuality Education (RSE) in schools and a review of the investigation and prosecutions of sexual offences aimed at improving supports to vulnerable witnesses during those processes. Of the 72 actions in the Strategy at the end of 2018, 18 were fully completed, 38 are broadly on target, 2 have yet to start and 14 are delayed.

I believe it is appropriate that we now take stock of where we are, where greater effort needs to be made to achieve our agreed objectives and what new and emerging needs and challenges should be addressed. Accordingly, my Department commissioned the University of Limerick to undertake an independent review of the progress made. Their report will be published shortly and will form the basis of a mid-term review. My Department will conduct the review in partnership with all our stakeholders and, in particular, with full consultation with and inclusion of voluntary and community organisations working with and providing services for victims of domestic, sexual and gender-based violence. The Cabinet Committee on Social Policy will also play a valuable role in ensuring steady progress continues on a cross-governmental basis.

Mr. Charles Flanagan
Minister for Justice & Equality
Second National Strategy on Domestic, Sexual and Gender-based Violence 2016-2021

The Second National Strategy on Domestic, Sexual and Gender-based Violence was launched by the Tánaiste and Minister for Justice and Equality, Ms Frances Fitzgerald T.D., on 20th January 2016.

Domestic, sexual and gender-based violence is a heinous crime and occurs in all social classes, all ethnic groups and cultures and among men and women of every educational background. The violence is often hidden and can have devastating physical, emotional and financial consequences for victims, their families and society as a whole.

The strategy is a whole of Government approach to these complex problems. Building on the previous national strategy, which concluded in 2014, the strategy contains a range of actions to be implemented by State, voluntary and community sector organisations aimed at preventing and responding to domestic, sexual and gender-based violence. The strategy also contains the actions which are required to enable Ireland to ratify the Council of Europe Convention on Preventing and Combating Violence against Women and Domestic Violence (the Istanbul Convention).

In order to ensure the successful delivery of the strategy, appropriate monitoring structures have been established. Those structures consist of a monitoring committee comprised of key stakeholders (Non-Governmental Organisations and State bodies) and an interdepartmental strategy oversight committee of high level officials to ensure actions are delivered on time and to address any problems that may arise in implementation.

The attached report contains a summary of progress made in implementing the strategy’s actions up to end of December 2018, and a detailed report of progress made by implementing bodies under each action. This report fulfils one of the strategy’s actions which provides for an annual report on implementation to be placed in the Oireachtas Library.

Below is an overview table of the actions which at the end of December 2018 were completed (coded blue), were on target (coded green), less than six months behind target (coded orange) and six months or more behind target (coded red). Items not yet started are coded black. The banner heading of each action is colour coded to indicate the status of that action.

COSC

Funding of €950,000 has been made available in 2016, 2017 and 2018 for a national awareness campaign as part of the Second National Strategy on Domestic, Sexual and Gender-based Violence, which commenced in 2016 and will continue to 2021, subject to the necessary funds being available and to ongoing evaluation of the campaign subject to the availability of funding. At least €50,000 per annum is to be allocated for the localisation of the campaign message and, in addition, the Dormant Accounts Fund has awarded funding of €200,000 for this aspect of the campaign in 2016 – 2017 and €300,000 in 2018 - 2019.

‘What would you do’?, the domestic violence element of the campaign, is a high impact media campaign to reach a national audience, which features TV ads, short videos, cinema, radio, outdoor, social and digital advertising. The campaign presents situations where bystanders become witnesses to domestic violence and are conflicted by what they should do. The call to action directed people to search the campaign website whatwouldyoudo.ie for information and advice on domestic violence and how they can help. The campaign is shifting to a focus on sexual violence in 2019-2021.

- Coyne Research undertook the third wave of research into the campaign in order to measure societal behaviour and attitudes to domestic violence and to measure the impact of the campaign in October 2018. In terms of evaluation of the campaign and measuring attitudes of domestic violence, results were in line with the previous bursts of research, the findings show high levels of awareness of the campaign and of the issues involved. This burst of research included additional questions on participants changes in understanding of/attitudes towards Domestic Violence in the last two years, which revealed ‘very positive shifts in understanding metrics since 2 years ago.

- In August 2018 the campaign entered the final burst (27 August – 21 October 2018) of the domestic violence phase which marked the evolution of the campaign from an awareness raising objective to an educational one. This was realised in the development of a new suite of campaign assets where the messaging reflects a more educational tone, in letting the public know that they can learn ways of helping people experiencing domestic violence by going to the campaign website http://whatwouldyoudo.ie. This new suite of assets included 4 new radio ads, a new voice over on the TV ads, and new messaging on digital and out of home advertising.

- Analysis of the campaign website’s metrics indicate the move to an educational tone had a positive impact on the numbers visiting whatwouldyoudo.ie. 2018 total sessions, total page views and total users were all up; 15%, 17% and 15% respectively when compared to 2017. The total number of sessions on the campaign website whatwouldyoudo.ie from 1/7/18 to 31/12/18 was 31,932. Research shows an increased awareness of the website with 3 out of 5 likely to visit once aware of it.

- There were several initiatives to promote the campaign at a local level in 2018 including advertising in Cinemas, Credit Unions and pubs throughout the country. The credit union element of the localisation of the campaign message continued up till the end of the year.

- The TV ads, short videos using campaign imagery and #mydoorsopen videos are hosted on the Department’s YouTube channel where they have received over 1,306,635 views up to 12/2/19.

- The campaign advisory group met on 27 February, 2 July and 26 November 2018.

- An independent media audit of the 2018 media plan is due to take place in March 2019.

- Work on planning for the sexual violence campaign 2019-2021 is continuing. Benchmark sexual violence research was undertaken at the end of 2018.

Outline the progress made in implementing the action.

In April 2018, a review of Relationships and Sexual Education (RSE) in schools was announced. This review is currently underway and covers both the content of RSE curriculum and support materials, as well as the delivery of the curriculum to students.

Included in the areas for particular consideration during the review are:
• Consent, what it means and its importance
• Developments in contraception
• Healthy, positive sexual expression and relationships
• Safe use of the internet
• Social media and its effects on relationships and self-esteem
• LGBTQ+ matters.

Given the scope of the request, the review will comprise of three inter-related dimensions:

1. Desk-top review of recently published research/studies in this area.
2. Consultations with key individuals and organisations who have responsibility for or who are working in this area.
3. Working directly with schools to examine the experience of RSE in schools and in classrooms.

A review of research was commissioned in June 2018 and a report was published in November. Studies have emerged over the last months that will also support the development of discussions and key questions in the review.

A number of consultative events are being planned. The first was held on 27 November at Collins Barracks, Dublin and involved approximately 60 groups and organisation who have expressed an interest in or who are known to have an interest in contributing to the review.

Approximately 20 primary and post primary schools, representing a range of school types and experiences will be directly involved. The outcome from this strand of the review will inform recommendations in relation to the reality of the experience of RSE in classrooms and the experience of parents, curriculum gaps, implementation barriers and enablers, and support needs. Furthermore, there will be an opportunity for any school to be involved, should they wish, to facilitate workshops locally.

The timelines for the three dimensions of the review are likely to intersect somewhat but will also contribute and add to the progression of the review. The NCCA intend to publish a draft report on the Review of RSE, which will be subject to further consultation from stakeholders. Final report is expected in Q2 2019.

The Minister of State for Higher Education, Mary Mitchell O’Connor, T.D, on 7th August 2018, launched a research report on sexual consent among third level students carried out by the NUI Galway SMART Consent research team in collaboration with their partners at four colleges.

The report, ‘Are Consent Workshops Sustainable and Feasible in Third Level Institutions?’ includes surveys with over 3,500 students conducted at NUI Galway consent workshops and held at four colleges nationally. The new education and awareness campaign, Consent=OMFG (Ongoing, Mutual, Freely Given), includes four short interactive films on consent.
The report builds on a programme of research since 2013 that has explored the meaning of consent among college students, tested the effectiveness of the SMART Consent workshop, and surveyed students on sexual consent behaviours and attitudes (see www.nuigalway.ie/smartconsent)

The surveys included in the report shed light on important consent-related issues, including:

- Sexual harassment: In a survey of 632 students, 54% of first year women students report experiencing sexual hostility or crude gender harassment at some point since starting college, rising to 64% among Second Year women students, and 70% of women students in Third Year or a subsequent year. The comparable figures for men are: 25%, 37%, and 40%.

- Perceptions of sex education at school: In a survey of 2,150 students, 71% of women and 63% of men said they were dissatisfied with the sexual health education they received at school (14% of women and 17% of men were neutral on this question; 15% of women and 20% of men were satisfied with their sexual health education at school).

- More lesbian, gay and bisexual students felt that their sexual health education at school did not cover the topics they are most interested in (75%), compared with heterosexual students (66%).

- Perceptions of alcohol and capacity to give consent: In a survey, 753 students read 1 of 2 versions of a consent story where both characters were drinking: 20% considered the female character too drunk to give consent in the story where she consumed 14 standard drinks, while 33% considered the female character too drunk in the version where she consumed 28 standard drinks. 14% of the students considered the male character too drunk to give consent after 14 standard drinks, and 30% considered him too drunk after 28 standard drinks.

In the Minister's press release on the launch of the report, the Minister said ‘All institutions have a duty of care to their students and I am delighted to see many of them integrate and support these empowerment and preventative initiatives, such as mandatory consent workshops. As Minister it falls to me to ensure that providing excellence in education depends also on providing a safe learning environment, free from sexual harassment, assault and the fear or threat of it. Therefore I welcome Dr. Pádraig MacNeela’s report. It is a timely piece of research given that the National Council on Curriculum and Assessment is carrying out a major review of the relationships and sexuality curriculum.”

Dr Siobhán O'Higgins said: “the SMART Consent workshop is strongly associated with students feeling knowledgeable and skilled about sexual consent. The discussion and peer engagement strategies we use mean it is a workshop, not a class. We encourage students to find their own positive approach to consent, but also know that a full response to this issue involves action outside workshops too, to change the culture in college and society”.

On October 4th 2018, Minister Mitchell O’Connor convened a stakeholder workshop on consent and tackling sexual violence in Irish higher education institutions. Following the event, the Minister established an expert group to prepare a set of recommendations for Higher Education Institutions and for the sector as a whole. This group would be informed by best evidence and practices and be readily implementable by all institutions. The work of this group is ongoing.

ACTION 1.500

Develop and deliver education / training modules both initial training and developmental training, for continual delivery to specific target groups in the public sector (IST 15)

Implementing bodies

The following organisations will develop and deliver programmes for relevant staff under their own aegis:

An Garda Síochána, Court Services staff, Probation Service, Tusla and HSE in consultation with relevant stakeholders as appropriate

Timescale

An Garda Síochána will finalise the review of their Domestic Violence Intervention Policy by quarter 1 2016
This will inform the development of training, including joint inter-agency training, for An Garda Síochána personnel dealing with domestic violence and sexual assault by quarter 4 2017.

Roll out training for An Garda Síochána starting quarter 1 2018 and ongoing throughout the term of the Strategy.

The Courts Service will provide training for staff who are involved in the administration of family law by quarter 4 2017.

Develop a shared approach between Tusla and HSE – in collaboration with service provider organisations – towards commissioning of training of frontline professionals in each agency that assures a consistent, appropriate and culturally competent response to persons presenting to services. Training should also include a focus on establishing standards, addressing quality improvement and measuring outcomes. Initiate training by quarter 2 2016 and then ongoing through the term of the Strategy.

HSE

In line with the Second National Strategy on Domestic, Sexual and Gender-based Violence, 2016-2021, the Health Service Executive developed and commissioned a national train the trainer programme.

To date, the DSGBV training programme has received accreditation from the Nursing and Midwifery Board of Ireland (N&MBI) and the Irish Association of Social Workers (IASW). Four Community Health Organisation areas have commenced delivery of the Programme; between Q4, 2017 and Q2, 2018 training has been delivered to 155 healthcare professionals.

HSE National Domestic, Sexual and Gender-Based Violence Training Resource Manual—Recognising and Responding to Victims of Domestic, Sexual and Gender-Based Violence (DSGBV) in Vulnerable or At-Risk Communities completed in partnership with Sonas.

Twenty-five HSE staff commenced a Second National Domestic Sexual and Gender Based Violence (DSGBV) Train the Trainer Programme and will complete the programme in Q1 2019.

DSGBV Training was delivered to 160 frontline HSE staff.
Chief Officers have been requested to consider the inclusion of training and awareness raising activities as an action in Quality Improvement Plans.

Probation Service
Probation staff have been identified and trained across all community based teams in the assessment and supervision of perpetrators of domestic violence and is ongoing.

Courts Services
The Courts Service provided training for all staff who are involved in the administration of family law by quarter 4 2017.

The Courts Service have provided training on the procedures involved in facilitating applications under the Domestic Violence Act and supplemented this with information seminars throughout the regions focusing on facilitating the implementation under the new act.

Tusla

Garda National Protective Services Bureau meeting held with Tusla Eastern Region regarding joint training on 7.11.17.

Roll out of Diversity in Modern Ireland training for Tusla staff continued throughout 2018. Five courses were held with 57 participants.

Tusla has partnered with Pavee Point to implement. National co-ordination was established by end Q4, with recruitment of project workers underway and planning initiated for roll-out to four pilot sites in 2018. This project will be aligned with local Traveller Primary Healthcare projects supported by the HSE.

Tusla commissioned Safe Ireland to support work across the Domestic Violence services’ sector to enhance services’ capacity to respond to all service users in ways that take account human rights and equality, in line with the Public Service Directive. Safe Ireland had engaged specialist support to undertake this work by end 2018, with roll-out planned from Q1 2019.

The Law Society

The Law Society’s implementation of its functions under the strategy is ongoing, holding seminars for the profession and providing a module on the up to date legislation for the students. The Law Society continues to provide a Domestic Violence module to the students on an annual basis and the annual family law conference in November included a session on the new Domestic Violence Act 2018. There will also be updates in 2019 to include the new district court rules.

In March the Law Society held a multi-disciplinary day seminar on all aspects of domestic gender and sexual abuse which was well attended by the profession.

The Bar of Ireland

As a partner in an EU funded Victims’ Directive Training Grant, we held a number of seminars and conferences which subject matter is relevant to this report and which were all recorded for webcast. The Council hosted a full day Victim’s Conference in April 2018 which included a session on child abuse by Dr Geoffrey Shannon and Trauma Training by Maeve Lewis of One in Four. The Council hosted a panel discussion on cross-examination of victims in practice, including the use of intermediaries. This conference was very well attended and was recorded for webcast through a MOOC (Massive Open Online Content). Much of the content of the 2018 MOOC was relevant to these issues and the Council contributed both to organising and publicising the MOOC lectures.

In addition, the Council ran a seminar in July 2017 detailing the requirements under the Victims Directive, which was repeated for the members of the Irish Criminal Bar Association. In January 2016 the Council ran a three hour seminar on vulnerable witnesses. A report has been prepared by one of our Council members on GBV in Tanzania, which specifically addresses GBV issues arising in both jurisdictions and which recommends a joint approach by Irish and Tanzanian police, lawyers and the judiciary. The recommendations therein will inform the upcoming year of CPD events and the ongoing contact will increase awareness of the relevant issues at investigative, prosecutorial and judicial levels.

There was a seminar and workshop on Vulnerable Witnesses in September 2018.

The Bar of Ireland continues to review its CPD content and further seminars are planned in this area.

Monitoring Report

December, 2018

Outline the progress made in implementing the action.
In September 2018 the Minister for Justice & Equality announced a review of the protections for vulnerable witnesses in the investigation and prosecution of sexual offences. In April 2018 consultations were held with a number of non-governmental agencies who work in this area and invited submissions on what can be done to better protect vulnerable witnesses in sexual assault cases.

Following receipt of submissions an expert group was established to review protections for vulnerable witnesses in the investigation and prosecution of sexual offences. Noted expert Tom O'Malley BL, Senior Lecturer in Law at NUI Galway and member of the Law Reform Commission, was appointed to chair a working group with experts from across the criminal justice sector including An Garda Síochána, the Office of the Director of Public Prosecutions, the Probation Service, the Courts Service and a representative of the Criminal Law Reform Division in the Department of Justice and Equality.

The Terms of Reference for the review include the following elements:

- Access to specialist training for An Garda Síochána, members of the judiciary and legal professionals dealing with sexual offences;
- Practical supports for victims through the reporting, investigation and trial processes;
- The provision of additional legal supports to witnesses during the court process;
- Examination of measures in place to protect vulnerable witnesses during evidence, including the use of measures such as pre-recorded evidence or video-link;
- The causes of delay in sexual offence trials, and the effect of delay upon vulnerable witnesses;
- The use of pre-trial hearings to determine evidential issues including conflicts of evidence and sexual experience evidence;
- Provision for restrictions on public attendance at, and media reporting on, trials of sexual offences.

The working group has held a number of meetings and has begun gathering information around the trial process. The review has received a number of submissions from victims’ organisations and from victims themselves, as well as other stakeholders.

It is expected that the working group will provide a final report to the Minister during the first quarter of 2019.

AGS

There is no provision for automatic referral of victims in the absence of the victim’s explicit consent. However, the role of the Garda Victim Service Offices facilitates the enhanced delivery of victims’ rights.

GNPSB Victims Office and the Prison Service are developing a Memorandum of Understanding. When finalised, a joint leaflet may be agreed. However, the current GNPSB Victim Information Leaflet already contains information for all victims.

Probation Service
The Victims of Crime protocol signed between the Probation Service and Irish Prison Service (IPS) which aims to ensure the provision of a coordinated, effective and appropriate response to victims needs is working well and has been reviewed. Victim Information leaflet has been developed by the Probation Service and the Irish Prison Service and will be accessible on agency websites. The Probation Service also contributed to a victim information leaflet being prepared by An Garda Síochana.

Courts Services

The Courts Service will extend the family support and referral service currently available in Dolphin House (the Dublin family law courts) to other court houses, subject to the availability of facilities and the co-operation of voluntary sector organisations ongoing throughout the term of the Strategy.

ADAPT are currently involved in replicating the Dolphin House service in Limerick District Court.

Ennis Courthouse has a dedicated room for victims of Domestic Violence. This is controlled by a local women's refuge organisation called Clare Haven Services.

Victims can stay in that room on the day of court to avoid meeting with the other side. The PA system extends to that area so the person knows when their case is called.

Letterkenny Courthouse has a dedicated room for victims of Domestic Violence. This is controlled by a local women's refuge organisation called Domestic Violence Service.

Victims can stay in that room on the day of court to avoid meeting with the other side.

There is not a designated support and referral room in other Court buildings but there is a presence by support workers on Court days.

Tusla

Additional funding of €1.7m was allocated to services supporting victims of domestic violence and sexual violence, bringing total funding for services to €24.1m in 2018. Tusla has increased funding to Sexual Violence services to provide additional counselling hours and reduce waiting lists for victims of sexual violence.

Additional funding has been provided to increase the provision of emergency domestic violence accommodation for 2019.
To provide psychological protection to children exposed to domestic violence, roll-out of the TLC Kidz programme was expanded to over 10 further locations and national co-ordination of support programmes for children was initiated in Q4.

A research project on therapeutic responses to older children/young people who have experienced sexual violence was begun in Q3 and will be completed in Q2 2019.

The HSE DSGBV train the trainer programme has been developed in partnership with Sonas to recognise and respond to victims of DSGBV in vulnerable or at risk communities.

The purpose of the train-the-trainer programme is to:

- deliver a culturally appropriate, learning programme for HSE staff and partner service-provider organisations;
- establish standards, address quality improvement and measure outcomes; and
- identify appropriate interventions and provide practitioner guidance for identifying and responding to survivors of DSGBV in vulnerable or at-risk communities.
An accompanying resource manual will provide further practitioner guidance when published (HSE).

Resource training manual completed as referenced in Action 1.500.

Tusla

Implementation of actions arising from six Area-based Commissioning Projects undertaken in 2017 were progressed to look at local needs and inform future service development in those areas. The needs of people with additional vulnerabilities are actively included. Representatives from minority communities are included on the project advisory structures and are being engaged with as part of the needs analysis process.

Planning progressed for an integrated service approach in North Dublin (Fingal) involving both domestic violence and sexual violence service provider organisations which includes particular responses to communities and individuals with additional vulnerabilities. Service is due to be operational in Q2 2019.

Tusla is currently funding a Domestic Violence Awareness and Healthy Relationships project with the Enniscorthy Roma Community.

A pilot Community Development Domestic Violence project for Migrants in the Midlands began in Q4 with project manager in post.

Additional Domestic Violence supports in Roscommon for work with Syrian Refugees.

National Workshop on responding to ethnic minorities/new communities held in December 2018.

Position at September 2018: Tusla acknowledge the delay in implementing this action. Work has been undertaken to map out a frame for quality standards and the development of more systematic oversight mechanisms for Service Level Agreements since 2017, will support the achievement of quality standards. Delay in this action has largely been a matter of resources to undertake development of standards. With the introduction of new staff in 2019, it is intended to amend timeline to Q1 2021 in the context of the mid-term review of the strategy.

- Service user engagement mechanisms are included in all Tusla Area-based commissioning projects and include meetings/interviews/focus groups with service users; surveys and opportunities to submit views as part of the needs analysis processes. Service users from minority groups were specifically targeted to ensure their views and experiences were included. Service users are engaged in the advisory group for the Youth Therapeutic Research in Sexual Violence settings currently underway (see Action 1).
- Tusla developed Participation Strategy for young people with Agency-wide roll-out and training. DSGBV team have participated in Participation training.

Is the action on target?

Mainly

- Include a framework for robust and effective service user engagement mechanisms in commissioning for domestic violence and sexual violence services.

Although significant activity has taken place around service user engagement, this action to develop a framework for engagement around DSGBV requires further development with clarity about specific actions and resources.

The Criminal Law (Sexual Offences) Act 2017 was enacted on 22 February 2017. The purpose of the Act is to enhance and update laws to combat the sexual exploitation and sexual abuse of children, including new offences relating to child sexual grooming and new and strengthened offences to tackle child pornography, criminalise the purchase of sexual services, introduces new provisions regarding the giving of evidence by victims in sexual offence trials and introduces a new offence addressing public indecency.

The majority of the provisions of the Act were commenced in March 2017. The remaining sections of the Act were commenced in Spring 2018. Additional amendments to the Act will also be brought in the Criminal Law (Sexual Offences) (Amendment) Bill 2018 to address the gender anomaly in sentencing for incest offences. Sex Offenders (Amendment) Bill 2017

The provisions outlined in the Sex Offenders (Amendment) Bill were originally included in the General Scheme to the Criminal Law (Sexual Offences) Bill 2015, which became the 2017 Act. Draft Heads were approved by Government as Part 3 of the General Scheme of the Criminal Law (Sexual Offences) Bill. Part 3 has now being drafted as a separate Sex Offenders (Amendment) Bill which was brought to Government in Q1 2018. (Criminal Law Reform)

Is the action on target?
No

If not, why?
Sex Offenders Bill is currently with the OPC for drafting.

Position at September 2019: The Bill went for drafting in June 2018. While progress on the drafting continues to be made, the priority afforded to the Bill has been affected by other urgent Government legislative priorities over the period. This has included the Criminal Justice (Money Laundering & Terrorist Financing) (Amendment) Bill, the Gaming and Lotteries (Amendment) Bill (legislation dealing with gambling) and the European Parliament Elections (Amendment) Bill.

Various other urgent legislative commitments have arisen since the action plan was formulated in late 2015 and have taken priority over this legislation. In particular, amendments to the Private Members’ Parole Bill, the Sexual Offences (Amendment) Bill (which provides for minimum sentences for sex offenders), and the review of protections for vulnerable witnesses in the investigation and prosecution of sexual offences which was announced following the Belfast rape trial.

The legislative components of the National Strategy on Domestic, Sexual and Gender-based Violence 2016-2021 remain an important priority for Criminal Law Reform and it is intended to progress the Sex Offenders (Amendment) Bill to publication as soon as possible. It is intended to amend the timescale to Q 1 2020 in the context of the mid-term review of the strategy.

Establish a family law court system

Implementing bodies
Department of Justice and Equality, Courts Service

Timescale

It is intended to publish the General Scheme of a Family Courts Bill by quarter 1 2016

Monitoring Report

Outline the progress made in implementing the action.

Position at September 2019

It is intended to publish proposals in 2019 for a new approach to handling family law cases in Ireland at District, Circuit and High Court levels. This will be done by legislation to create a new dedicated Family Court within the existing court structures. These courts will have new procedures aimed at less adversarial resolution of disputes and will have appropriate facilities and case management arrangements.

The Department of Justice and Equality is currently working on the General Scheme of a Family Court Bill, which will aim to streamline family law court processes, clarify jurisdictional issues and provide for a set of guiding principles to help ensure that the Family Court will operate in a user-friendly and efficient manner. Once the General Scheme has been approved by Government, it will be referred to the Office of the Parliamentary Counsel for drafting and to the relevant Oireachtas Committee for pre-legislative scrutiny.

A working group was established in 2017, comprising officials from the Department of Justice and Equality, the Courts Service and the Legal Aid Board, to examine the operational aspects relating to the Family Court and develop an overall architecture for the new family court structure. The Department of Children and Youth Affairs and Tusla also participated in the working group. Key issues that arose in consultations included family court venues and facilities, resources and capital investment in family courts and integration of relevant family and child services to provide the best possible family law outcomes.

In 2018, a three-person task force comprising senior officials from the Department of Justice and Equality, the Legal Aid Board and the Courts Service was formed to seek agreement on core questions of policy and costs. The work of this group is at an advanced stage. Issues being examined include court areas and locations, use of courthouses, provision of facilities and services, arrangements for management of resources, and oversight arrangements. It is proposed to amend the timescale to Q4 2019 in the context of the mid-term review of the strategy.

Monitoring Report
December, 2018

Outline the progress made in implementing the action.

a) the introduction of risk assessment with a view to tailoring the approach to individual needs

- A uniform Spousal Assault Risk Assessment (SARA) system has been implemented as a core feature of the Choices domestic violence intervention programme. This action has been completed.

b. the development of a national approach to programme content between providers

- A national approach is being taken by the delivery of a uniform domestic violence intervention programme model entitled the Choices programme.
- This programme is being rolled out across the State by three service providers, MOVE (Men Overcoming Violence) MEND (Men Ending Domestic Abuse) and NEDVIP (North East Domestic Violence Intervention Programme).
  - A working group, chaired by Cosc, is in place to oversee and support the national implementation of the Choices model.
  - As at end December 2018, the overall roll out of the Choices Programmes is now well advanced with the programme operational across all its current 18 site locations. This aspect of the action is complete.

c. introducing two new programmes in 2016 and a new programme each year thereafter
• The introduction of new intervention programmes were established in new locations in 2016/2017 in Blanchardstown, West Dublin and in Sligo.
• A new programme was introduced in Co. Kildare during 2018.

d. further develop support for partners of perpetrators participating in programmes (Cosc)

• A key feature of the Choices programme is that it also incorporates a separate partner support service that offers one to one support to the partners or ex-partners of the men on the group programme. A further feature that is in the process of being developed under Choices is the introduction of group work programmes with these partners.

Such a group programme is already being run by the NEDVIP organisation (in which the Probation Service plays a lead role) in the North East area in tandem with the Choices programme. This initiative is acting as the model for the development of group work with partners in the other programme areas.

Is the action on target?

a. Complete
b. Complete
c. Yes
d. Work is in progress but at a slower pace than anticipated

Proposed remedial action and timescale

In relation to (d), Cosc in partnership with the programme providers and other stakeholders, is working to further progress this sub-action with a view to rolling out further partner group work programmes during 2019.

As the next phase of this work, it is intended that a new group work programme with partners will commence across the Choices programmes operating in the Dublin region during the first quarter of 2019. This will inform the further roll out of Choices partner support group work under this sub-action. It is intended to amend the timescale to Q4 2020.

An Garda Síochána will focus on recidivists of domestic violence and sexual crime to prevent and detect crime through early intervention/ intelligence led operations, working with organisations supporting victims.
Garda resources can focus on recidivists through the intelligence function in matters not directly related to domestic violence or sexual crime but involving other suspected criminal activity. This can result in a significant reduction in the risk to victims of domestic violence and sexual crime as there is no dependence or legal responsibility placed on the victim to break the circle of violence. It also provides a window of opportunity for support agencies to work with and support victims.

Monitoring Report

December, 2018

Outline the progress made in implementing the action.

Tusla will be continuing work to support and resource data and information capacity within the DSGBV Services sector towards achieving ‘Gold Standard’ data requirements and establishing a strong evidence and information base for service provision.

In addition to supporting and enhancing the availability of high quality operational data from funded services, Tusla undertook or supported a number of pieces of service/programme evaluation in 2017 and will continue this in 2018, particularly around responses to children.
Data on sex, ethnicity and disability particularly are classified as sensitive personal data and a particular section of GDPR applies. Tusla undertook a process to ensure compliance in Q2 2018.

Information regarding perpetrators obtained from victims attending services may not always be accurate or reliable and, given the context, seeking it may not always be appropriate. Tusla does not plan to implement this over the duration of the strategy. For reliability in reporting a clear definition of disability would be required, which strikes a balance between sensitivity and accuracy on the one hand and service responsiveness on the other.

Standardised collection of headline data from funded services on a quarterly basis was implemented in 2018, in addition to annual data submitted through a bespoke in-house Tusla mechanism.

Actions (a) and (b) are part of Tusla’s operations. Action (c) - development of outcome-focused key performance indicators:- Tusla has undertaken substantive work around data quality and work is progressing in relation to the identification of outcomes. It is important that consistent reliable measures are agreed with funded domestic sexual and gender based violence organisations. Over 2018 and 2019, Tusla has implemented a small number of key performance indicator's at the level of individual organisations. Initial measures and a comprehensive set of key performance indicator's will be developed in 2020 through a process of engagement with the domestic sexual and gender based violence services' sector. It is intended to amend the timeline to Q1 2021 in the context of the mid-term review of the strategy.

DCYA - Part b

The Children First Act 2015 was signed into law on 19 November 2015. Different sections of the Act were commenced on a phased basis.

Sections 1 to 5 inclusive (general provisions) and Section 28 (abolition of defence of reasonable chastisement in relation to corporal punishment) of the Act were commenced in December 2015.

Sections 20-26, Part 4 of the Act, 2015, which relates to the Children First Interdepartmental Group (CF IDG) were commenced on 1 May, 2016.

The remaining provisions of the Act commenced on 11 December, 2018. The Minister launched the revised Children First Guidelines on Monday 2 October, 2017 and all preparations were finalised in advance of commencement on 11 December, 2017.

HSE

An action has been included in the recently published National Drugs Strategy “Reducing Harm, Supporting Recovery” which provides further synergies to implementing the action in the DSGBV Strategy i.e. Strategic action to mitigate the risk and reduce the impact of parental substance misuse on babies and young children by;

(a) Developing and adopting evidence-based family and parenting skills programmes for services engaging with high risk families impacted by problematic substance use.

(b) Building awareness of the hidden harm of parental substance abuse with the aim of increasing responsiveness to affected children.

(c) Developing protocols between addiction services, maternity services and children’s health and social care services that will facilitate a coordinated response to the needs of the children affected by parental substance misuse.

(d) Ensuring adult substance use services identify clients and have dependent children and contribute actively to meeting their needs either directly or through referral to or liaison with other appropriate services including those in the non-statutory section.

Tusla

b. The remaining provisions of the Children First Act 2015 were fully commenced on Dec 11th 2017. These key sections primarily relate to the

1. Introduction of mandatory reporting of child harm (CF Act S. 14) to Tusla. Schedule 2 of the Act identifies the classes of persons specified as mandated persons (incl. managers of domestic violence services, psychotherapists, addiction counsellors, social workers, medical practitioners etc).

2. Obligations of ‘relevant services’ to undertake ‘risk assessments’ to keep children safe from harm and to prepare Child Safeguarding Statements (CSS) detailing policies and procedures in keeping children safe from harm whilst the child is availing of their services (CF Act S. 10 & 11).

3. Tusla is obliged to establish a non-compliance register for ‘relevant services’ who fail to produce CSS.

4. Tusla’s wrote to its approximately 900 funded partners to advise them of their legal obligations and the service contracts have been updated to reflect CF Act compliance matters.

5. The Children First Interdepartmental Group (CFIDG) was established on a statutory footing in late 2015 and Part 4 of the CF Act sets out its legal obligations in relation to the various Departments of the State.

c. Child Witnesses of Domestic Violence

- Over 10 specialist group programmes to support children affected by domestic violence were commissioned in 2018, with national coordination established on a pilot basis, with evaluation of outcomes from these also being planned.

- Tusla has increased funding to domestic violence service providers so that every service has capacity to respond to children. Dedicated support for children has been increased with a view to having childcare workers in all refuges.

Tusla is broadening this remit to include preventive approaches to sexual violence. To this end the DSGBV Programme is leading a collaborative extensive pilot with the support of EU Funding to examine the evidence for consent education for 15/16yr olds in schools and out of schools locations country wide. Entitled the Manuela Project it was initiated in Sept 2017 and is due to conclude in March 2020. Manuela programme roll-out continued throughout 2018 following appointment of Project Staff in 2017 and Q3 2018.

Following training work commenced in October 2017 on the recruitment of schools to enable delivery of the Manuela Programme to young people.
The Manuela Programme was offered to schools and some other out of school sites 2017/2018 school year 20 different schools and 3 non school sites participated in the Project. There were 26 iterations of the Programme delivered by Project Workers with an average of 22 students/ Programme. 623 young people (aged 15/18yrs) completed the programme. In total 887 young people have so far completed the programme.

Additionally, there were two teacher training events for programme facilitators involving 50 teachers.

- Evaluation of Manuela Programme commenced in Q4 2018 following a competitive tender process.
- Tusla is piloting an integrated community-based approach in a Domestic Violence Outreach Project in Co. Waterford. The project was operational in Q4 2018 with evaluation in 2020.
- A national co-ordinating role has been established in Barnardos focusing on delivery, capacity building and developing evidence for family support programmes that can achieve positive outcomes for children in domestic violence situations. Roll-out and support for healing programmes such as TLC Kidz; Helping Hands and You and me, Mom are included in this initiative.
- Evaluation of TLC Kidz in Mid-West published in Q3 was supported by Tusla.

Responses to children who have been sexually abused

Tusla is currently leading a multi-agency process to implement a national service model for sexual abuse services for children and their families. This process aims to incorporate all resources currently applied to sexual abuse services into a co-ordinated service providing standardised models of best practice with national and multi-agency oversight. It integrates and co-ordinates the six separate sexual abuse services which children may need to access. These services include medical/forensic examination; child protection; Garda investigation; assessment; therapy and court process. An Interdepartmental Group was established in January 2018 to progress the development of these centres. Membership is comprised of representatives of the Department of Children and Youth Affairs, the Department of Justice and Equality, the Department of Health, An Garda Síochána, the Health Service Executive and Tusla – the Child and Family Agency. The Terms of Reference of the Interdepartmental Group focus on producing for the Minister for Children and Youth Affairs, the Minister for Health and the Minister for Justice and Equality an implementation plan for the development of child centred services, including dedicated child centres, to include recommendations on options for interagency working, identification of any legal provisions required and a cost estimate for the preferred model.
The Interdepartmental Group has established a Project Team to establish and deliver a cooperative, dedicated pilot child Centre in Galway. The pilot project will identify possible challenges that may arise in the subsequent and permanent establishment of 3 regional Centres (Cork, Galway and Dublin) as a national service for children and families. The pilot Centre will aim to conform to the ten European Barnahus Quality Standards that are composed of underlying principles, specific activities and institutional arrangements that enable child-centred and effective, collaborative actions. The Project Team is formed from representatives of the constituent agencies involved in the provision of sexual abuse services at Barnahus/Child Centres. These are Tusla, An Garda Síochána, HSE and the National Children’s Hospital Group (Children’s Hospitals in Dublin – St. Clare’s Unit and St. Louise’s Unit).

Having completed commissioning of research in Q3 with a multi-agency steering group established, a project on participative research into Best Practice models for therapeutic support (including counselling) to children and young people under 18yrs by Tusla funded sexual violence services was initiated in Q4. The goal is to understand current provision and to develop service capacity in meeting the ongoing therapeutic needs of young people who have been sexually abuse. Due to procurement and ethical approval timelines the project timeline was slightly delayed but engagement with stakeholders was well-underway in Q4 with initial results expected in Q2, 2019.
